Fight Between Two Publishing Houses Splits Up the Board

Music Committee Started the Game and Now Committee on Text Books Espouses System Published by Another House—City Will Have to Pay the Bill

Two publishing houses have divided the school board on the question of a new musical system. One of the houses started the ball rolling through the music committee, but now the committee on text books favors another house, and the fight is waxing warm. The city of course will have to pay the bill.

The committee on text books held a secret meeting last night and voted in favor of a new musical system known as "The Harmonic." The committee on music recommended a different system issued by a different publishing house.

The committee on text books regards the matter as one of graft and is determined not to let the committee on music get this plum away from it.

In the event of any improvement through the treatment, a slight operation will probably be performed. The treatment supplies nourishment to the retina of the left eye, which is separated from the optic nerve.

ASSAULT CASES IN COURT TODAY

Druggist Fined for Illegal Sale of Liquor

The drunk list was small this morning and was soon disposed of by Judge Hadley.

Almira and James Nugent, husband and wife, pleaded guilty of drunkenness. Like Eve of old the woman was the more serious offender. She received four months in jail, suspended, while her husband was also placed on probation.

Ruby Hannon and her children were walking along Lawrence street yesterday when she came Mary E. Barry and her husband and Ruby knew Mary's husband and greeted him with "Hello, Tom." Mary objected to Ruby speaking to her husband and voiced her indignation by applying an opprobrious term to Ruby. The latter handed back some selected conversation whereupon Mary landed on Ruby's countenance with one good, healthy fist. Ruby told her troubles to the court and Mary was fined $10.

Levi T. Steeves, who conducts a drug store at the corner of Chelmsford and Hale streets, pleaded guilty to a charge of selling a pint of whiskey to Thomas P. O'Sullivan. He was fined $15.

John Battersby is a cripple living in Adams street. His wife and two children are ill and one of his children died recently. A week ago Sunday he was caught selling beer and was summoned into court. Under the circumstances Judge Hadley continued the case one month. Battersby's promise not to sell any more and if he keeps his word the case will be placed on file.

John Kokatalski pleaded not guilty of assault and battery on Alexander Contogian and considerable time and English were chewed up in hearing the case. It seems that Kokatalski punched Contogian on the cheek, knocking Contogian against the wall. As ill-fate had it there was a nail in the wall just where Contogian's head landed, the result being that Contogian was bruised forehead and eye. The defendant was fined $15.

DRACUT CAMPERS

The local police and the Dracut constables have received complaints from several farmers on the south side of the Merrimack river, in Tewksbury, to the effect that campers on the north shore are in the habit of crossing the river at night, and helping themselves to a whole lot of garden truck. The Dracut police will be on the lookout and some of these campers may be sorry for their nightly cruises.

SEN. DOLLIVER

Says Taft Has Not Offered Him Support

FORT DODGE, Ia., June 5.—Senator Dolliver when asked last night about the report that Secretary Taft would favor him for the vice presidential nomination, said that he knew nothing about it and could not refuse what had not been offered. However, he made it clear that he prefers to retain his seat in the senate which he holds until 1912.

Asked about the wave of reaction predicted in some quarters, Mr. Dolliver said:

"The people are thinking soberly. It is natural that they should with $50,000 freight cars idle on the side tracks. It does not mean that the wise measures of President Roosevelt's administration will be repealed but that they will slow down the pace a little."

Internal Revenue Dept. Plans Series of Prosecutions

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Following the lead of departments of agriculture in the enforcement of the pure food law, the internal revenue department has planned a series of prosecutions for alleged infractions of the internal revenue laws all over the United States. Officers of that department made seizures yesterday at two local drug stores on the ground that they were selling cigars in contravention of the internal revenue laws. The ruling relates to the removal of the entire tops of boxes to which the major portion of the stamps was affixed, thereby leaving the packages unprotected by proper stamps. The government contends that this is prima facie evidence of the non-payment of taxes and cigars not protected with stamps, may be declared forfeited to the United States. Clear dealers contend that when a box with 100 attached, is placed on a shelf, a great portion of space is taken up unnecessarily, and a practice of doing away with the lid has been universally followed. The internal revenue, however, have received instructions that all such cases shall immediately be reported and the cigars detained.

SEVEN INJURED

TROLLEY CAR WRECKED AT BIDDFORD, ME.

BIDDEFORD, Me., June 5.—Seven persons were injured, one fatally, in a collision yesterday afternoon of a car on the Cape Porpoise division of the Atlantic Shore Line with two coal cars being pushed by a motor car.

The forward coal car rammed the front of the passenger car, carrying away nearly all of the upper structure of the latter, and pinning several of the passengers under the wreckage. The injured were brought to Trull hospital in this city with the exception of Miss Littlefield and Mrs. Wakefield, who were taken to their homes.

Miss Corlies, whose injuries were regarded as fatal after the first examination of her, died at 9 o'clock last evening. She formerly lived in Boston. The accident occurred near what is known as Moses swamp, about a mile and a half from Keimelunkport town house.

A motor, pushing the two cars, was on its way to Cape Porpoise light about 2 o'clock to secure loads of coal from the schooner Florence M. Penney, which was being unloaded at the wharf. An open passenger car with 12 persons on board was due at that hour, and as the road is single track, it is supposed there was a misunderstanding of orders.

Neither the coal cars nor the passenger car took the turnout near the swamp, and when the motorman of the passenger car saw the coal cars, which the passengers said were moving very rapidly, hearing down upon him, he jumped.

Dr. Joseph Grady and wife of Boston, formerly of Lowell, sailed from New York yesterday for Berlin, Germany. They will be absent three months and will also visit Italy, Switzerland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden.

DREYFUS AFFAIR

Believed to be Individual Act of Man

PARIS, June 5.—It is believed yesterday's attempt on the life of Alfred Dreyfus at the time of the canonization of Emile Zola in the Pantheon was merely the individual act of a man believing himself to have been an out-cast patriot, or had behind it an insidious national plot. The republican press is unanimous in deploring the incident and believes it injured rather than aided that cause. Even those papers which doubted the wisdom of burying Zola in the Pantheon think that the shooting of Major Dreyfus consolidated the republican sentiment, and they evidently desire to see the incident let out as quickly as possible. Any attempt to reopen the old Dreyfus issue at the trial of Louis Gregh, the man who shot the major yesterday, they point out can easily be frustrated as being plainly extraneous.

On the other hand the fury of the Nationalist papers is unbounded. L'Action Francaise fired a broadside which recalls the most exciting days of Dreyfus and Boulanger. At the head of its columns this newspaper prints a statement by Charles Maurras which, it is likely, the authorities will investigate. In this article the writer says that on Wednesday night "a resolute patriot" visited M. Daudet and M. Leclercq, and himself offered to kill Dreyfus, but his proposal was rejected. A leading editorial in this paper appeals to the country to turn to the Duke of Orleans for redress and concludes as follows:

"Do you desire that Zola's body be ejected from the Pantheon?" "Do you desire to march Dreyfus to the execution block? If so, invoke your King."

The paper also republishes long reviews of the Dreyfus case, insisting that he is a traitor.

The director of the court of cassation to cut off the time of an appeal, the paper says, is illegal and it concludes as follows:

"What we ask for Dreyfus is not six balls from a revolver, but the twelve bullets of the execution squad."

Other newspapers declare that Gregh, much grieved at the recent death of his mother, has lately manifested signs of mental derangement.

DIAMOND NOTES

At Glen Forest today and back home tomorrow.

Ed. Arnold, president of the Lawrence baseball association, upon learning that Percy Donovan was to farm out Sherry March to Albion, Pa., took the first train to Brooklyn and got Sherry back to Lawrence where he played a star game yesterday. If Lawrence doesn't have good ball this season it will not be Arnold's fault.

Lawrence has a first class team now and in fact has some men on the bench who would help out other teams. There's Tony Cummings, for instance, a fine little ball player.

If ever a man was mad he was Hi Henry Labelle, when he tied the score on an accidental balk. It was the first of the month, two out, one run needed to tie a man on the plate. Labelle was about to deliver a "spitter" and hence had a full grown dose of saliva on the sphere. In delivering the ball Henry always gives a double swing and then shoots. He made the first swing and

THIS has always been the store of good clothes and the cheerful HABIT. We have talked GOOD CLOTHES and GOOD BUSINESS so much we sometimes wonder if we are overdoing it. Then we look at our sales record and see RESULTS—and really it's RESULTS that count. Once more we find MAY, 1908, greater than MAY, 1907—we've had great RESULTS all the year, and we shall talk GOOD CLOTHES and we shall talk GOOD BUSINESS right along—we've got RESULTS—But we hear blue stories—we meet blue people, so we have decided to give a BLUE SALE. We shall do the blue business of Lowell—Real Fast Color Blue, and there will be the only BLUES at Talbot's.

What is 3192? We'll tell you—3192 is the style number of the American Woolen Company's Blue Serge usually sold at $15.00. When we decided we should do the Blue Serge business of the city we looked for the best and most popular blue. Style 3192 filled the bill—it's a $15.00 Blue Serge—it's trimmed like a $15.00 Blue Serge—it's made like a $15.00 Blue Serge—it is a $15.00 BLUE SERGE—We shall sell them in all sizes at as his hand came up the slippery sphere got away from him and went straight into the air 15 feet over Henry's head while the latter caught it as it came down. "How's that for a balk," cried the Lowell players and the crowd. "Come in," called Umpire O'Brien to Greenwell on third. And then there were doungs. Labelle first wanted to hit the umpire $10. Then he wanted to kick him. O'Brien put on a fine of $5 and Labelle was backed away, loudly protesting. Jimmie Canavan, the peach-blower of his contentment, blushed by his indignation, vowed that O'Brien was a stiff of an umpire and that he would protest the game. But there was nothing to it and O'Brien was right with a 72-point R. A balk is a balk whether made intentionally or by accident.

There are nine sections to rule 34, relative to balks and this case is covered by sections 1 and 5. Here they are:

Section 1—A balk shall be any motion made by the pitcher while in position to deliver the ball to the bat without delivering it, or to throw to first base when occupied by a base runner, without completing the throw.

Section 3—A balk shall be making any motion of the arm, shoulder, hip or body the pitcher habitually makes in his method of delivery, without immediately delivering the ball to the bat. Manager Canavan has a fat chance to protest the game against these rules.

Leslie Fish of the Patterson, N. J., team of the Union league, which despite its name was without strength and is now among the dead ones, played left field for Lowell. He hadn't much to do and did it well. The other new man was Bowle from Brockton. For eight innings Bowle went along like an auto on a state highway but in the ninth a single, double and triple to deliver the ball to the bat without delivering it, or to throw to first base when occupied by a base runner, without completing the throw.

Section 5—A balk shall be any motion made by the pitcher while in position to deliver the ball to the bat without delivering it, or to throw to first base when occupied by a base runner, without completing the throw.

Section 7—A balk shall be any motion made by the pitcher while in position to deliver the ball to the bat without delivering it, or to throw to first base when occupied by a base runner, without completing the throw.

Section 9—A balk shall be any motion made by the pitcher while in position to deliver the ball to the bat without delivering it, or to throw to first base when occupied by a base runner, without completing the throw.

Section 11—A balk shall be any motion made by the pitcher while in position to deliver the ball to the bat without delivering it, or to throw to first base when occupied by a base runner, without completing the throw.

Section 13—A balk shall be any motion made by the pitcher while in position to deliver the ball to the bat without delivering it, or to throw to first base when occupied by a base runner, without completing the throw.

Section 15—A balk shall be any motion made by the pitcher while in position to deliver the ball to the bat without delivering it, or to throw to first base when occupied by a base runner, without completing the throw.

Section 17—A balk shall be any motion made by the pitcher while in position to deliver the ball to the bat without delivering it, or to throw to first base when occupied by a base runner, without completing the throw.

Section 19—A balk shall be any motion made by the pitcher while in position to deliver the ball to the bat without delivering it, or to throw to first base when occupied by a base runner, without completing the throw.

Section 21—A balk shall be any motion made by the pitcher while in position to deliver the ball to the bat without delivering it, or to throw to first base when occupied by a base runner, without completing the throw.

Section 23—A balk shall be any motion made by the pitcher while in position to deliver the ball to the bat without delivering it, or to throw to first base when occupied by a base runner, without completing the throw.

Section 25—A balk shall be any motion made by the pitcher while in position to deliver the ball to the bat without delivering it, or to throw to first base when occupied by a base runner, without completing the throw.

STRONG PROTEST

Made by Tyler Park Residents

AGAINST LOCATING STABLE THERE

Lively Hearing Before Board of Health

The petition of Ada F. Weiler for permission to construct and maintain a stable for six horses on a lot of land at the corner of Pine and Sanders streets, mention of which has already been made in The Sun, was given an airing by the board of health at a meeting held yesterday afternoon.

Tyler Park was well represented and the reconstruction was very explicit and very determined. They would not stand for anything that would interfere with the ethical zone of Tyler park.

Lawyer William W. Duncan represented a number of residents of Tyler park and he was the first to be heard. "Tyler park," said Mr. Duncan, "is primarily a residential part of the city, only recently adopted by people as a place of residence, and it is an attractive and beautiful place, where people have built handsome homes, and beautiful residences, under the impression that that section of the city was to be purely residential, where no business was to be conducted."

"If a horse boarding business should be allowed to enter here, that locality would be rendered undesirable, and reduce values of property, to the detriment of residents of the district. There is plenty of room in other parts of the city for such business, without going into the residential part."

"And a boarding stable is objectionable on other grounds than that of beauty. The odor from a stable is very distasteful, and disease frequently emanates from stables."

"These people have no desire to be mean, or to persecute the people who bring this petition before you, but it is unfair to the citizens of Lowell to destroy not only aesthetic beauty, but also financial value in that section. If this precedent is made, in a short time other business will creep in, and practically spoil the place for the residents."

Edward B. Pierce, of 17 Belmont street, who owns two lots in Florence avenue, said: "200 feet from my house there is a stable licensed to keep horses, and when I am dreaming at night, I am awakened very often by the stamping of horses, even at that distance. You know how like a bass drum the stamping of a horse sounds at night, and I don't think it is fair for a man worth perhaps $1000 to be kept awake by a horse worth $25. Not only that, but a horse is a common source of disease, and typhoid fever is a common result of unclean stables."

Rev. A. Frederick Dunneis, pastor of the Highland Congregational church, objected on the grounds that he could not do his work properly unless he had peace and quiet, and that he said, was impossible with such a place near his study. "I cannot, in my work, under distracting noises," he said, "and after I have finished my work for the day, I must have quiet to sleep in, or else I shall not be fit for my next day's work."

"I know what I am talking about, for I lived near a stable for a long time, and although it was very cleanly kept, and the people who owned it were very good people, still, it was there and I had to move."

"We all know that the fly is the enemy of mankind, and there is no breeding place for flies so bad as a stable. We come here to remonstrate against this petition and we say that it is not fair to the people of Lowell to grant permission for this stable to be built."

Mr. Dr. Drew objected, quite vigorously, to the stable and gave his opinion that it was the Fleischmann Yeast company that wanted it. "If the Fleischmann Yeast company wants such a stable," said Mrs. Drew, "why do they come here in the guise of this woman who is petitioning for the stable?"

W. H. Bent, Esq., proved a strong and vigorous remonstrant and he drew the fire of Mr. Weiler who declared that the Fleischmann Yeast company was not interested in the petition.

Mr. Bent also brought out the point that in the original deeds of the land around Tyler park, there was a clause restricting the use of the land to residential purposes. "They have no right to build a stable on any part of Tyler park, and I am speaking now as a lawyer," he said.

While Mr. Bent was speaking, Mr. Weiler begged the privilege of an interruption and said:

"I'd like to say that Mr. Fleischmann is not at all interested in this petition, and is being grossly misrepresented here by this gentleman."

Mr. Bent—"That is false."

Mr. Weiler—"Now I don't want any one of these people here to think that the Fleischmann company has anything to do with this, at all, for this gentleman is wrong, and is grossly misrepresenting the case."

Mr. Bent—"I consider your remarks insulting."

Mr. Weiler—"Well, you'll hear from me later."

Mr. Bent—"You'll hear from me later."

Mr. Bent—"You'll hear from me later."

own this land? I understand that they do not, and if that is so, then I consider this petition an impertinent one."

Mrs. Weiler also appeared to second her husband's remarks, and two other people made short speeches, saying that they did not object at all to a stable in that district.

"I am as healthy as any lady here, and I've always lived near horses. I am very fond of horses, in fact I love them, and furthermore my horses and stable are as clean as anybody's," said Mrs. Weiler, and then the meeting was declared closed.

HOKE SMITH

DEFEATED FOR GOVERNOR IN GEORGIA PRIMARIES.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 5.—All returns up to midnight indicate the nomination of Joseph M. Brown, governor of Georgia, in the primary held yesterday by a plurality of about 15,000.

The Constitution estimates that Brown has won by from 15,000 to 20,000. The Brown managers claim the plurality is larger.

Gov. Smith's campaign managers decline to make a statement and the governor himself says that he cannot comment on the result until today.

In all the eleven congressional districts indications are that the present democratic majority will be returned, the only doubt being in the case of Fifth, where James May, may contest the election with Congressman J. W. Livingston.

There was no contest over the United States senatorship, S. C. Clay being the popular choice.

The primary results mean election in Georgia.

AN OUTRAGEOUS CURRENCY LAW

IT IS NOW DAWNING UPON THE COUNTRY THAT THE CURRENCY BILL PASSED BY THE REPUBLICAN CONGRESS IS A MEASURE FOR THE BENEFIT OF WALL STREET RATHER THAN THE RELIEF OF THE COUNTRY.

THE MEASURE MAKES IT POSSIBLE FOR WALL STREET TO UNLOAD UPON THE GOVERNMENT $50,000,000 OF UNSALEABLE SECURITIES OF INDEFINITE VALUE. SOME OF THEM PERHAPS ENTIRELY WORTHLESS.

THIS IS A CRIME AGAINST THE PEOPLE. A CRIME FOR WHICH THE REPUBLICAN PARTY ALONE IS RESPONSIBLE.

IT WAS THE TWO LEADERS ALDRICH AND CANNON WHO JAMMED THE MEASURE THROUGH AT THE LAST MINUTE IN THE FACE OF STERN OPPOSITION FROM THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY WHO AT THE REQUEST OF WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN SUPPORTED SENATOR LA FOLLETTE IN HIS VIGOROUS OPPOSITION TO THE MEASURE.

THROUGH HIS CONFIDENTIAL ADVISERS, EVEN PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT WAS LED TO COMMIT THE ADMINISTRATION TO THE BILL.

ON THE CONTRARY MR. BRYAN ADVISED THE PARTY WISELY SHOWING A CLEARER PERCEPTION OF THE EVIL TENDENCIES OF THE MEASURE THAN WAS SHOWN BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

THE REPUBLICANS WANTED SOME CURRENCY LEGISLATION, TO MEET THE LACK OF ELASTICITY IN THE PRESENT SYSTEM BUT IN GOING OVER TO THE CAMP OF THE WALL STREET SPECULATORS THEY HAVE BETRAYED THE PEOPLE.

IN THEIR REFUSAL TO INTERFERE WITH THE DUTY ON WOOD PULP FOR THE RELIEF OF THE PUBLISHERS, THE REPUBLICAN PARTY SHOWED ITS LOYALTY TO THE TRUSTS AND IN PASSING THIS CURRENCY MEASURE THAT PARTY HAS FORMED A CORRUPT ALLIANCE WITH THE MONEY POWER AND ITS WORST REPRESENTATIVES, THE STOCK GAMBLERS IN WALL STREET. INSTEAD OF BEING IMPROVED THE CURRENCY SYSTEM IS NOW CHANGED FOR THE WORSE, AND THIS UNDER THE GUISE OF PROTECTING THE PEOPLE AGAINST THE MONEY STRINGENCY THAT CREATES A PANIC.

IT APPEARS THAT THERE IS NO SCHEME, NO DEAL, NO CRIME AGAINST THE PEOPLE TO WHICH THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IS NOT READY TO STOOP IN ORDER TO PERPETUATE ITSELF IN POWER. VERILY IT IS TIME FOR AN AWAKENING OF THE PEOPLE TO THE ENORMITY OF THE ROBBERIES WHICH WILL BE FOSTERED BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY AS A MEANS OF SECURING A CONTINUANCE OF ITS CONTROL OF THE GOVERNMENT.

CANNON AS DICTATOR

WHEN SPEAKER CANNON ORDERED AN INVESTIGATION OF THE PAPER TRUST, SOME PEOPLE, INCLUDING OURSELVES, GAVE HIM CREDIT FOR HONEST INTENTIONS BUT NOW THAT THE BLUFF INVESTIGATION IS OVER, THAT CANNON AND HIS PARTY FRIENDS HAVE REFUSED TO RECOMMEND ANY CHANGE IN THE TARIFF THE OBJECT OF THE WHOLE SCHEME IS APPARENT. IT WAS SIMPLY TO THROW DUST IN THE EYES OF THE PUBLIC AND GIVE SOME PLEA OF JUSTIFICATION TO THE REPUBLICANS FOR REFUSING TO DISTURB THE TRUST.

THE INVESTIGATION HAD NOT GONE FAR WHEN IT WAS APPARENT TO THE MOST SUPERFICIAL OBSERVER THAT THE TRUST WAS CONTROLLING PRICES, THAT IT HAD FORMED A CONSPIRACY IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE AND THAT THE ONLY REMEDY WAS A REDUCTION OF THE TARIFF.

CANNON WOULD NOT TOLERATE SUCH A THING. IT WOULD RELIEVE THE PUBLISHERS OF COURSE BUT IT WOULD DEPRIVE THE PARTY OF THE SUPPORT OF CERTAIN TRUSTS AND WOULD MOREOVER BE OPPOSED TO THE POLICY OF THE STANDPATTERS. IMPERIOUS AS WAS THE LATE SPEAKER HEED HE WAS NOT NEARLY SO MUCH OF A Czar IN JAMMING OROLOGICAL AND EXTREMELY PARTISAN LEGISLATION THROUGH THE HOUSE AS IS SPEAKER CANNON.

CANNON WHILE REGARDED AS IN HIS DUTY IS ALLOWED TO DO THINGS THAT IN THEMSELVES MARK HIM AS THE MOST UN-SCRUPULOUS DICTATOR THAT EVER OCCUPIED THE SPEAKER'S CHAIR.

REDUCTION IN POSTAGE

NOW THAT THE POSTAGE BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND THE BRITISH ISLES IS REDUCED TO TWO CENTS AN OUNCE INSTEAD OF FIVE CENTS FOR THE FIRST OUNCE AND THREE CENTS FOR EVERY ADDITIONAL OUNCE, WILL THE MAILED BE TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF FOR THE PURPOSE OF EVADING TARIFF DUTIES ON RIBBON, LACE AND OTHER THINGS THAT CAN BE READILY MAILED IN A LETTER BEARING A TWO CENT STAMP? DIED SUDDENLY

Woman Passed Away in Lodging House

ROXBURY, June 5.—Miss Winifred Doyle, 35 years old and born with her married name at 77 Cabot street, Roxbury, died yesterday afternoon at a South End hotel, under peculiar circumstances.

Robert Nesbitt, aged 42, married, and living at 21 Fort street, Roxbury, is held at police station 5 by orders from the medical examiner, pending the result of an autopsy to be performed today.

Nearly a dozen broken capsules, a medicine dropper and a portion of a glass of water found on the table in Miss Doyle's room were taken by the police and handed over to the medical examiner.

Until he makes his report it will not be definitely known whether Miss Doyle died a natural death or committed suicide.

Nesbitt at first was so unmoved by the woman's death that he told conflicting stories, but finally gave a detailed statement of his connection with the case, which appears creditable to the police.

About 2:30 yesterday afternoon Nesbitt and Miss Doyle called at 77 Appleton street, a respectable lodging house, and applied for a room. Nesbitt, according to the occupants of the house, said he had a companion had been taken sick, and eventually they hired an attic room for a week.

According to Louis Hainer, proprietor of the house, Nesbitt remained on the first floor and was about to leave when Y. M. C. A. board, and Margaret Schwartz, Moscow, A. C. board.

GOV. JOHNSON

STILL A CANDIDATE FOR THE NOMINATION.

CHICAGO, June 5.—Gov. John A. Johnson of Minnesota, arrived here yesterday and spent a short time at his headquarters in the Grand Pacific hotel.

Discussing political conditions here, he said: "I believe that the Denver convention will be a deliberate body and that nobody has a sufficient number of delegates to assume a nomination."

I regard the conditions as favorable for democratic success if the right man is named and the right sort of a platform made. Nothing in recent developments has changed my attitude, and I am still a candidate for the nomination."

EIGHT OFFICERS

TRIED BY COURT MARTIAL AND SENTENCED TO PRISON.

BERLIN, June 5.—Eight non-commissioned officers of the Guard Artillery Regiment, who were tried by court martial here, have been sentenced to terms of imprisonment varying from two weeks to fifteen months. They were charged with the maltreatment of subordinates.

There were no fewer than six hundred counts in the charges against the principal prisoner, Sergeant Tamm, who is said to have caused a junior to commit suicide for fear of further maltreatment. Tamm, according to the evidence of the soldiers, freely used horsewhips and bit-chains upon his victims and forced them to run the gauntlet between two lines of old soldiers.

Interest in the games continues at fever heat and the close standing of the teams indicates no let-up in the large audiences weekly. The Sacred Heart-Burkes game at Mountain Rock is sure to be a gilt edged contest, and as the Burkes have been greatly strengthened during the past week, and since two games will add more than ordinary interest, Saturday's crowd ought to be enormous. The other games also will be well worth seeing, and as no admission will be charged, it is hoped that the support in point of attendance will come up to expectations.

BOXING GOSSIP

Dick Hyland and Leach Cross will meet in New York Monday night.

Abbe Attell is in New York trying to coax Packey McFarland into a match.

Attell says he will not meet Charley Griffin, the Australian champion now in New York, unless he makes 124 ringside.

On account of a dispute over weight, the Army, A. A. Boston, is having some trouble renouncing Matty Baldwin and Grover Hayes for June 16.

Baldwin wants it 125 pounds at 3 o'clock and Hayes 128 at the same hour. The club feels confident it will effect a compromise.

In the four-round tryout bouts which are to precede that between Young Donahue and George Amels at the Armory, A. A. Boston, Tuesday night, the following aspiring boxers have paired: Henry Albee and Dick Summers, Young Larrabee and Kid Ford, Kid McDonald and Tim Harrington, Young Lansmark and Young J. Johnson and John Collins and Frank Moir.

Kirk St. Church

HELD A STRAWBERRY SUPPER LAST NIGHT.

The attraction at the Kirk street church last evening was the annual strawberry festival and it was well attended. It was in charge of the Women's association of the church of which Mrs. F. Frank Horne and Mrs. Edward Lyman were chairmen.

Supper was served from 6.30 to 8 o'clock and was followed by a musical program consisting of piano selections by Miss Ruth Bill, Miss M. Simpson and Miss Doris Wragg; violin selection, Mr. Thomas Buckley; Rev. Dr. Martin announced the numbers.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the display of basket grass work, fans and other articles from Rev. Dr. Herrick at Mandura, India, sent to his sister, Mrs. G. E. Martin, wife of Rev. Dr. Martin, pastor of the church.

The display was looked after by Miss Susan McEvoy and Miss Ruth Leinhardt, dressed in costumes of India.

The affair included sale tables and they did a thriving business. The sale table was presided over by Miss Mary Lamson, and Mrs. John Boyd with a committee of delightful assistants cared for the candy table. The cake table was in charge of Miss Marietta Wheeler and Mrs. John Simpson had charge of the domestic table.

The members of the "S. B. I." society of the church showed a display of fans and other articles, made during the past season and which will be distributed to the children at the hospital of the city at a future date.

PRES. ROOSEVELT

GOING TO HUNT BIG GAME IN AFRICA.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Soon after March 4, 1907, Mr. Roosevelt will start for British East Africa for a hunting trip of a year or more after big game. He will be accompanied only by his son Kermit. This statement comes from the White House, and is authentic.

Not only will the president go direct to Africa—not stopping in Europe—but he will return from there direct. A report that he might go to the Philippines was explicitly denied yesterday by Secretary Loeb.

The president will enter British East Africa at Bomba. He will travel north and south as the seasons make desirable.

He has been engaged for weeks with great enthusiasm of preparations for the trip and is reading deeply into African literature. He is making plans as to commissariat, guns, ammunition and the like. He will buy two elephant guns for himself and son, and will go with a first-class hunting animal.

He will also make a careful study of the fauna of Africa, and will write some magazine articles and one or more books based on his explorations.

TRAFFIC RETURNS

ON NEW HAVEN ROAD SHOW GREAT IMPROVEMENT.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 5.—The traffic returns of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad for the month of May, show that there has been practically no improvement in the freight receipts. Passenger business, however, shows only a slight diminution as compared with last year. A very early improvement, however, in the freight business is looked for, as the reports of agents show that the resumption of work in the cotton mills includes practically every factory in the system's territory, the product of which must soon reach the company's lines. In the woolen business, factory resumption has been very light, and in the metallic industries on the system, there has been practically no change, the effect of depression being still the Naugatuck valley.

On navigation lines of the company, the diminished business still continues, affecting both passengers and freight. In Rhode Island, where the trolley system of the company was showing serious losses, these losses have been of late much diminished, and the trolley situation there is steadily improving.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS CONGRESS.

NEW YORK, June 5.—A prosperity convention of the Commercial Travellers Interstate Congress will be held in New York August 11 and 12, under the auspices of the Travellers' Protective Association and the United Commercial Travellers, who have a combined membership of $500. The travellers are making an effort to promote a feeling of confidence and optimism in every city and district of the country.

KETCHELL'S BOUT

Billy Papke Lost the Decision

BATTLE WAS A FAST ONE

Was Witnessed by 6000 Spectators

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 5.—Stanley Ketchell of Grand Rapids, Mich., last night got the decision over Billy Papke of Kewanee, Ill., at the end of a fast ten round bout before 6000 spectators at the Milwaukee Boxing Club at the Hippodrome building. The contest was furious from the tap of the going to the finish, with the exception of clinches. Time and time again Ketchell forced Papke to the ropes with onslaughts of rights and lefts to the head and body. Ketchell appealed to the referee to break the clinches repeatedly. Ketchell, in the first round, took considerable steam out of Papke by landing a terrific right to the jaw, sending the Kewanee boy to his knees. The Grand Rapids man worked the right and left shift to good advantage.

At the end of the last round Papke was plainly in distress. Both men were in the pink of condition.

Lugo Kelley, Sam Langford, Jack (Pinky) Sullivan, Jack (Philadelphia) O'Brien, Dick Russell, and Peter Jackson challenged the winner.

Billy Papke entered the ring at 142, followed a few minutes later by Stanley Ketchell. Both were under 151 pounds. Cheers greeted the fighters. The spectators were estimated at 6000. Jack McGulgan, of Philadelphia, was referee. The fight began at 11 o'clock.

Round 1—Both men rushed out of their corners and Papke was sent to his knees by a right to the jaw. Ketchell sent a right to the stomach. Ketchell swung to the jaw. Papke sends two hard ones to neck and Ketchell two lefts to stomach. Ketchell gets in a left to jaw and follows with a left uppercut. Clinch. Ketchell lands two lefts to stomach. Papke sends a terrific left to stomach. Ketchell rushes Papke and uppercuts him. The round ends with the men in a clinch.

Round 2—They clinch and try to force uppercuts to jaw. Papke gets in a left to stomach and both men then land right to neck. Papke jars Ketchell to head and they clinch. Papke lands right on neck in breakaway. Another clinch. Ketchell lands right and left to jaw. They clinch and Ketchell sends a right to kidneys. Both swing wildly. Papke lands right to neck and Ketchell lands a light blow to neck. Papke slipped to knees.

Ketchell gets decision.

Massachusetts supreme court is made. Thus far, it is understood, the proposition coming from Attorney General Mahan as to the form of the decree have been indefinite. In character and asking for an injunction or title. When the decree is made special by the attorney general, the New Haven company is expected to take the form of the decree now to the supreme court and a new trial, or even a number of them, is looked for.

Points in the decree may also raise questions that must go to the United States supreme court. It is now reported in railroad circles here as almost certain that the case will pass into another federal administration.

In regard to the merger it can also be stated on the authority of a high railroad officer here that the interchange of additional Boston & Maine shares on even terms with New Haven shares has been indefinitely postponed and is not in any event likely to be considered in any time to come. At the time when the large block of Boston & Maine shares was purchased, a contingent exchange was arranged for, and some twenty million dollars at the New Haven shares was sent in the treasury of the company for that purpose. Events in Massachusetts since the purchase have made it clear the attitude of the New Haven company.

MATRIMONIAL

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Teague, 124 Church st., Wednesday evening. The occasion being the marriage of their only son, Miss Sarah Devine, to Mr. Edward Higgins of Peabody, Mass. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. H. Brown at St. Peter's parsonage at 5 o'clock.

After the ceremony a delightful wedding supper was served at the home of the bride for the bride and groom. The bride was beautifully attired in white silk and wore a charming white picture hat. She carried a bouquet of white flowers. The bridegroom was in a dark suit. The ceremony was attended by a large number of guests. The bride and groom were both very happy. ROPER, McCOY.
A very pretty wedding occurred at the rectory of the Immaculate Conception church when Mr. Mark Roper, son of the well known artist, Mr. Albert Roper of Tewksbury, was united in marriage with Miss Mary L. McCoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McCoy, also of Tewksbury. Rev. Fr. Heymon, O. M. I., performed the ceremony. SALARY JUMP

Defeated by Companions of the Forest

NEW OFFICERS WERE INSTALLED

Next Convention to Be Held in Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, June 4.—The Massachusetts circle, Companions to the Foresters of America, closed its annual state convention in this city yesterday afternoon.

The session was characterized by a contest over the report of the committee on laws in favor of an increase in salaries, but the opposition won by a large majority.

The administration claimed that it was unfair to compel the officers to look after the business of the grand circle without increased compensation. The opposition contended that if the expenses had increased so much the past year there was every reason to believe that an additional expenditure would be made the coming year. The per capita tax, it was alleged, had been increased this year and if there was a raise in salaries another increase would be necessary in 1909.

The report of the committee on the state of the order showed a gain of more than 1200 members since the last convention.

The committee on ritualistic work reported an improvement and a generally prosperous and peaceful condition in the entire state.

Supreme Chief Companion Evelyn Sawyer installed the officers elected yesterday. She was assisted by Miss Mamie Gibson of Lynn, supreme state deputy, and by a team of Marlboro young women from Pelee of the Forest circle. The team consisted of Florence Maigher, Mary Kavanaugh, Della Kane, May Roberts, Josephine Carey, Katherine Lynch, Katherine Mahoney, Susie Fee, Jennie Green, Lila Lyons, May Conway, Cora Fay, and Nellie Kenney. Mrs. Nany Burke was pianist. The Marlboro degree team then exemplified the work of the order.

A committee on ways and means was appointed and is composed of Mrs. Johnson of Fitchburg, Mrs. Ella Crozier of North Adams, Miss Leonie La Rose of Hudson, Miss Josephine Mahoney of Boston, and Miss Mollie Johnson of Lawrence.

So well pleased were the companions with this city as a place for holding their meetings that they voted at the afternoon session to hold the state convention here next year in the first week in June.

Mrs. Sawyer was presented with a brooch and gold pencil; a gold necklace was given to Miss Julia McCarthy of Lynn, grand financial secretary; Mrs. Beulah Chittenden of this city, the grand treasurer, was presented with a gold brooch and a bouquet; and Mrs. Catherine Flaherty, the retiring grand financial secretary, received a cut glass gift.

MERCHANTS MEET

And Discuss Business at Supper Table

Frank P. Putnam Addressed the Gathering—Subjects of Credit System, Co-operative Outing, Bargain Day and Co-operative Express Co., Discussed

The Lowell Merchants' Association held its monthly dinner in the Colonial building, last evening with about 100 guests present and matters of importance were discussed, the credit system, a co-operative express company, co-operative advertising and summer outing.

The address of the evening was made by Mr. Frank P. Putnam of Putnam & Sons who spoke as follows:

MR. PUTNAM'S ADDRESS.

It is a source of great satisfaction to see so many members of the Merchants' Association present in this pleasant room and for this privilege we are indebted to the courtesy of Messrs. Nelson and Chaffoux. I am sure that the association will express its appreciation of the kindness of these gentlemen before the meeting dissolves. It is a pleasure in which every member must share to realize that there is an awakened and broadened interest in the Merchants' Association by those to whom such an organization can be of the greatest value. Indeed, however, that the association shall contain within itself elements that will make it more permanent in character, it seems to me that some definite steps should be taken to complete its organization.

The by-laws need to be revised and broadened, and these should be printed and distributed to all members, and a copy of the same sent to each member. A board of directors should be chosen to act as a governing body, standing committees be appointed to have in charge questions that are of permanent and vital importance to the association and, while the secretary's office should properly remain in charge of our financial affairs, a paid corresponding secretary should be employed—one who can give close attention to the general business of the association, who can issue the notices required for the meetings and those concerning matters of importance authorized by the directors or the standing committees and who can by his personal efforts increase the membership of this organization until the Merchants' Association embraces practically every merchant, wholesale and retail, in the city. It should be possible to do this for nothing is more apparent than that what is for the benefit of one is for the good of all.

If these suggestions seem of value to you, a committee may be appointed to prepare now or revise the old by-laws and submit a report at our next meeting. The same committee might also be requested to present at the same time with its report, the names of five members who are not members to be voted for, with the present officers, as directors of the association, to hold office until the annual meeting in March next.

I think that if some action is taken along these lines that the Merchants' association will be greatly strengthened and its membership increased four-fold. I presume that you have all learned through the newspapers that we, the Lowell merchants, are as a whole a pretty poor lot—lacking in public spirit, selfish, self-centered and generally speaking "back numbers." Now what do you think of that? It strikes me as an impertinent libel. I believe there is as much generosity, public spirit, ability and get there in "little old Lowell" as you will find in any other community of its size and I am sure that if we only had the same spirit and ability that we have in "little old Lowell" we could manage to find new ways of earning money and increasing our taxes and our friends, the newspaper publishers, who wouldn't publish it if it were not for us, can invent new excuses for increasing their advertising rates—we shall be forgiven if we don't dig down into our jeans and toss in $100 bills for an auto race. We all want Lowell known as a wide-awake and progressive city, but there may be a few of us who are not just as useful ones as this to increase the fame of Lowell, and to which we shall all gladly contribute.

In closing, I want to refer to the death of a good man and a great man—one whom you all know—Dr. John C. Irish. And I do so because I believe that in his death we all recognize a public loss. Standing at the very head of his profession, of consummate skill and original methods in his chosen department of surgery, he had won recognition both at home and abroad as a man of splendid ability and judgment, and I speak of him because he was in a degree a public character who did more for his city than any one of us can do to make Lowell known as the home of skillful men.

BUSINESS MATTERS DISCUSSED.

At the conclusion of Mr. Putnam's address Mr. A. Spote of the King Clothing Co. took up the matter of a credit system. He believed that to install such a system an increase of dues is necessary, that a revolving security fund may be employed and would take effect at the end of the year, and putting over the matter until a later date.

Mr. Kenyon of the Lowell Clothing Co. suggested that the work be done on a commission basis and Mr. Dickson spoke in opposition to the raising of the dues. He suggested a rule of about 10 cents on the head of each participant in the various forms of co-operative advertising.

James O'Sullivan said that the question was a difficult one and could not be settled without proper consideration. He stated that the very subject not to know all about such a system conducted by the stores and was opposed to the commission scheme.

On the motion of Frederick Garrett it was voted to raise the dues to $5 a year, to take effect this current year. A motion for reconsideration by Mr. O'Sullivan was lost.

MERCHANTS' WEEK DISCUSSED.

Mr. O'Sullivan, for the Merchants' week committee, reported progress, but asked for more time. He believed the week would be a success. Careful arrangements must be made before final action is taken. Then the matter of a store clerks' outing was discussed and the question was asked as to how many would attend. It was stated that the Lowell employees alone would number 200 and Mr. O'Sullivan remarked:

"Here is one man who can furnish a picnic by himself and can show those that think the city is asleep that it can go some when it gets started."

Fred Garrett, of the committee in charge of the outing, stated that there were but two places where such an outing could be held, Canobie lake or Salem Willows. The matter was left in abeyance for further investigation, and on motion of Mr. Green of Green Brothers it was voted that all stores in the association attend this day on the occasion of the outing.

The matter of co-operative advertising and that of a bargain day were then discussed. Mr. Putnam suggested Monday because the stores were open in the evening. Messrs. O'Sullivan and Knowlton favored Monday. Mr. O'Sullivan at this point said:

"There isn't a home in Lowell that is not at eight Monday morning from the waste of papers scattered all over the house. And those papers try to tell the poor benighted people here, 25 miles from Boston, what bargains can be obtained there. The trouble with you is that you advertise too honestly. I tell the truth."

After further discussion in which several members of the association took part, it was voted that a committee interview the various newspaper publishers in the city in regard to special Thursday advertising in connection with the proposed bargain day.

CO-OPERATIVE EXPRESS.

Mr. Spote then took up the matter of co-operative express companies and quoted figures of the Merchants' Co-operative Express Co. of Lawrence.

"The city of Lawrence has a merchants' express controlled by the merchants of that city, and thinking it might interest you, I made it my business to go over there and secure some information about its workings."

Mr. Sutherland of Robertson & Sutherland, president of the express company, kindly gave me the facts that I now lay before you to show you what can be done as a body. While I don't say that we can do what they succeeded in doing, we can at least discuss it. It is practical to have a freight service express company to handle our goods, similar to the service of the Manchester & Concord.

"The company is incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts with a capital stock of $5000 and in 1904 shares to the merchants themselves. The stock of any member who desires to sell out his holdings can be sold only to some other member of the association in Lawrence. There are 11 members to go over there and secure some information about its workings."

Mr. Sutherland of Robertson & Sutherland, president of the express company, kindly gave me the facts that I now lay before you to show you what can be done as a body. While I don't say that we can do what they succeeded in doing, we can at least discuss it. It is practical to have a freight service express company to handle our goods, similar to the service of the Manchester & Concord.

"A good profit has been made by the merchants' express, so I was informed. What I stated above is another case of what a merchant association can do. That is why I say there are opportunities for improving ourselves if we come together regularly."

Mr. O'Sullivan was the last to address the gathering. He pronounced the meeting a success and the death of Dr. Irish. He also moved that a vote of thanks be tendered Messrs. Nelson and Chaffoux for the use of the dining room and the elevator service.

The dinner was served on the third floor of the Colonial building. The P. L. B. was a happy occasion. Among the guests were Messrs. Nelson and Chaffoux.

SOUTH END PARADE.

The South End is thoroughly enthused over the prospect of celebration on the eve of July 4th and the fact that Major Josiah Fielding Fliske has joined hands with the South Enders is one of the causes of the enthusiasm. Major Fliske started out to collect yesterday and in the first hour raised $15. Fifteen collectors are going the rounds and already have pledges amounting to $100 and they feel confident that subscriptions will reach the $1000 mark.

The executive committee voted, by acclamation, to appoint Josiah Fielding Fliske as chief marshal of the parade, but the major allowed that the honor belonged to some one of the actors in the parade. The South End of the city, and despite the pressure of the committee to have him accept, he declined with thanks.

Secretary Harry J. Kelley has received numerous letters from organizations which have signified their intention to enter the contests for prizes. Many more are expected. The Major Fliske Associates have organized and will make a strong bid for the prizes. They propose to spring a surprise feature which they say will surely land them within the money.

WINONA CAMP

WAS THE SCENE OF A DELIGHTFUL OUTING.

The young lady employees of the building room of the New Boston and their friends journeyed to Billerica last Sunday, where they were the guests of the Winona camp at their spacious camp, situated on the banks of the upper Concord, and a most enjoyable time occurred.

The party arrived at the camp at an early hour and immediately boarded the many canoes which were at their disposal.

When the merry gathering returned to the camp, they found a delicious dinner awaiting them. The dinner was prepared by Mr. Charles R. Tow, who was assisted by Mr. Arthur M. Flaherty.

After the inner hall was taken care of, a musical and literary program was carried out, which consisted of songs by Miss Harriet Moran, solo by the Misses Alice Murningham, Carolyn Tyrrell, and Wilma Lacey, a quartet by the Misses Sadie Madden and Florence Haynes; quartet selections by the Winona quartet, composed of the following: Messrs. Harry J. Lippin, Henry Thomas, Arthur M. Flaherty and Robert Gibson. Those were piano selections by the Misses Carolyn Tyrrell and Cassie Spillane and piano duets by the Misses Catherine Hassen and Elizabeth Murningham. Recitations were also given by Mr. Thomas Ambrose and Mr. Henry Thomas.

At night the camp grounds were brilliantly illuminated with Japanese lanterns.

The success of the affair was due to the untiring efforts of Miss Mary Nutter and Mr. John J. Murningham, who had general charge of the arrangements.

TEXTILE SCHOOL

Able Address by Hon.
Carroll D. Wright

ON TEXTILE EDUCATION

Principal Eames on Industrial Education

At the commencement exercises of the Lowell Textile school, held yesterday, a partial report of which appeared in The Sun, Hon. Carroll D. Wright, the guest of honor, delivered a very fine, wholesome and interesting address, speaking, of course, from the educational view point. He said in part:

"The necessity of textile education, especially, is something that we cannot wink out of sight. I have heard manufacturers bemoan the fact that the coarser cloths were manufactured in the south. For many years I have been a minority on that question and now the minority is getting to be the majority. This transference of coarse cotton production nearer to the source of supply has done much to make Massachusetts alive to just such institutions as this. Economically, it will help the whole country; because the prosperity of each section means the prosperity of the whole. England's raw material is principally ice and granite; but that means a sharpening of the senses. If you teach the man or the woman engaged in textile production not only the science, but the art of their trade, you have lifted them in every particular.

"Where young men and women are thoroughly trained in the art of the industry adopted for their life work, they make better citizens—understand the moral side of life better—than the untrained. You young men here understand the absolute necessity for exactness. It will not do for you to vary a fraction of a fraction of an inch, if you wish to produce the results. It is exactness, all along through your four years. The testimony of all who have been interested in this line of work is that a young man and woman trained to exactness in the economical use of raw material, has a mind cultivated to exactness in truth, in exactly the same way. It is the trained mind, that teaches people the integrity of life itself. This young man will go over to the Philippines and will carry there the moral fiber of the Lowell Textile school, as well as the knowledge how to use the native fibre in weaving.

"We hear a great deal about the corruption of this age. I am satisfied, after deep study, that the corruption of this age is less than that of any other; but the corruption of the age, whatever it is, can be lessened by skilled training. Academic training is all right, but it does not teach a man how to earn a living; and a man who cannot earn a living for his family is an ignorant, no matter how many letters he can attach to his name. President Eliot has said that a man who knows one branch of knowledge, is an educated man. Now, a man who knows one industry, from Alpha to Omega, is an educated man, whether he can translate Latin or Greek, or not.

"Here in Lowell you have undertaken to establish an institution which in time will do more toward solving or ameliorating the conditions of that ugly thing we call the labor problem, than anything else. Intelligence attracts intelligence. By and by, through such institutions as this, the working man will become so intelligent that he will not strike. That is what we are to work for, not to help men into ignorance, but to lead them out of ignorance into intelligence. We can only gain security and industrial peace by having intelligence, not by force. So the work of such institutions as this is the grandest and most hopeful of all.

PRINCIPAL EAMES' ADDRESS.
Principal Eames, the man who has entered heart and soul into the work of the textile school, spoke, in part, as follows:

"Within the past few years much attention has been given in this country to the

She wants an Eddy Refrigerator as it is the most durable and most economical. All this home satisfaction can be had at question of industrial education. This has aroused the greatest interest in the eastern and northeastern section where the tendency is to turn from agricultural to industrial and commercial pursuits. The apparent ease of attaining the higher positions in the business world, accompanied by attractive surroundings and as sociates in the social world makes the youth look askance at any road which does not lead to the largest field of usefulness and personal development and which also offers a lucrative return. He therefore demands a broad, fundamental training, underlying a specialized line of development which will early make him of economic value.

This movement on the part of the general body of young men today to seek the positions which are placed by society upon a higher plane than those which demand often times more intelligence and greater dexterity in manipulation, is, it is believed, increasing the demand for skilled labor. This demand is partially met by men from foreign countries, principally from England and Germany. The latter country has come into particular prominence because of its increased prestige among the nations that naturally follows when commerce opens new markets for its products. It is soon discovered that the secret of its success is due in a large part to the complete system of industrial, trade and technical schools and institutes.

With true American foresight a similar system of educational training is attempted, but as would naturally be expected with a variety of theories concerning the adaptability of foreign systems to our needs. While some would advocate the transplanting in toto of the German system and others advise certain modifications, it seems a wiser procedure to study our needs and demands and build a system to meet them.

It is precisely upon this line that this school was organized to study the demands and needs of the textile industry and to organize courses of study to meet these as fast as they arose and as means permitted. After 11 years of study and development it is believed that a system of training, having for a foundation the fundamental principles of science, art and mathematics, applicable to the industry, supplemented by a thorough course of study in the processes and upon the machines used in applying these principles for the service of mankind, results in supplying the business and manufacturing world with young men and young minds capable of further development, of being moulded, broadened and guided. These have received no "permanent set," have not become "hardened in the mould" and are not confined by barriers of custom and tradition. They are guided by scientific laws and principles and because of their acquaintance with the ground work they have little difficulty in grasping modified, broadened, systems or machines, in grasping quickly the possibilities and limitations of each and are equally ready to recognize the value of improvements in all. Their vision is broad, deep and far reaching. Their decision is unbiased and is made only after careful analytical weighings. They climb up the "crab" of problems solved. With such a commencement will anyone question the resultant?

Already the resultant is coming to view. Many have climbed the rungs and can look back upon the problems solved, can tell their followers the paths to choose. Their number is becoming yearly increased and the successes are attracting the attention of the business world because of their efficiency and ability. They are also causing the students of educational systems to look up and about them at a new and successful institution of higher technical industrial education. The system commends itself to all because of its flexibility and its ability to grow. It is flexible because it is made to meet the needs of not only the young men who can devote three or more consecutive years to concentrated study, but it offers to the man of almost any age, opportunities for improvement during evening hours when not employed. By this method those who have not been able to acquire the technical side of their work may have the privilege of securing this, providing they have the ambition and strength of perseverance. They too, can reach the same goal even if the road is longer. The combination of day and evening classes leaves nothing to be demanded by the ambitious and determined youth.

That the school has had its ear to the ground to learn of the needs of the industry can be best shown by following the development of the several courses since their establishment. The courses of cotton and wool manufacturing, of designing and of chemistry and dyeing were organized at the commencement of the school and are now at a high state of proficiency. During their development, especially with the manufacturing courses, the importance of engineering as it finds application in the operation and construction of plants became evident. With the growth of this department came the demand of specialized training in engineering or at least so much as applies to textile industries, and it was soon recognized that a field, not before entered, was open and that young men having a grounding in the principles of engineering together with a knowledge of the processes and machines in use in the industry would be of service and value in the department which was responsible for the correct solution of all problems of engineering. Today the trustees and faculty of the Lowell Textile school grant the first diplomas in the department of textile engineering. We trust that they may merit the same success as should attend their classmates.

BANK OFFICIALS

WERE INDICTED BY THE GRAND JURY.

NORWALK, O., June 5.—Congressman J. P. Lanning, formerly vice president and director of the defunct Ohio Trust company; James P. Gibbs, president of the closed bank; F. W. Christian, its secretary and treasurer, and William Perrin, a director, were yesterday indicted on various charges in connection with the failure of the bank last January. Allegedly, it is alleged, Congressman Lanning and President Gibbs abstracted and misappropriated funds and credits of the bank to the extent of $65,000. It was stated that the failure of the Ohio Trust company brought about the failure of two other banks, the failure of two steel companies and a receivership for the Lanning Printing company of which Congressman Lanning is president. Congressman Lanning recently was nominated for a second term in congress.

This is the first serious automobile accident that has ever occurred in Bangor. The car was owned by Thomas R. Savage and driven by Howard Colby of Rochester, N. Y., 19 years of age, who said that the car was running 15 miles an hour.

LAW IS VIOLATED

Internal Revenue Dept. Plans Series of Prosecutions

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Following the lead of departments of agriculture in the enforcement of the pure food law, the internal revenue department has planned a series of prosecutions for alleged infractions of the internal revenue laws all over the United States. Officers of that department made seizures yesterday at two local drug stores on the ground that they were selling cigars in contravention of the internal revenue laws. The ruling relates to the removal of the entire tops of boxes to which the major portion of the stamp was affixed, thereby keeping the packages unopened by keeping stamps. The government contends that this is prima facie evidence of the non-payment of taxes and cigars not protected with stamps, may be detected by the United States. Clear dealers contend that when a box with lid attached, is placed on shore, a great portion of space is taken up under seal, and a practice of doing away with the lid has been universally followed. The internal agents, however, have received instructions that all such cases shall immediately be reported, and the cigars detained.

SEVEN INJURED

TROLLEY CAR WRECKED AT BIDDENDEN, ME.

BIDDENDEN, Me., June 5.—Seven persons were injured, one fatally, in a collision yesterday afternoon of a car on the Maine Seaside division of the Atlantic Shore line with two coal cars being pushed by a motor car.

The forward coal car rammed the front of the passenger car, carrying away nearly all of the upper structure of the latter, and plunging several of the passengers under the wreckage. The injured were brought to Trull hospital in this city with the exception of Mrs. Littlefield and Mrs. Wadsworth, who went to their homes.

Miss Corless, whose injuries were regarded as fatal after the first examination of her, died at 5 o'clock last evening. She formerly lived in Boston. The accident occurred near what is known as Mees swamp, about a mile and a half from Kennebunkport town house.

A motor, pushing the two cars, was on its way to Cape Porpoise, light about 2 o'clock to secure loads of coal from the schooner Florence M. Penley, which was being unloaded at the wharf. An open passenger car with 12 persons on board was due at that hour, and as the road is single track, it is supposed there was a misunderstanding of orders.

Neither the coal cars nor the passenger car took the turnout near the swamp, and when the motorman of the passenger car saw the coal cars, which the passengers said were moving very rapidly, bearing down upon him, he jumped.

Dr. Joseph Grady and wife of Boston, formerly of Lowell, sailed from New York yesterday for Berlin, Germany. They will be absent three months and will also visit Italy, Switzerland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden.

DREYFUS AFFAIR

Believed to be Individual Act of Man

PARIS, June 5.—It is believed yesterday's attempt on the life of Alfred Dreyfus at the time of the canonization of Emile Zola in the Pantheon was merely the individual act of a man believing himself to have been an outraged patriot, or had behind it an important nationalist plot. The republican press is unanimous in deploring the incident and believes it injured rather than aided that cause. Even those papers which doubted the wisdom of burying Zola in the Pantheon think that the shooting of Major Dreyfus consolidated the republican sentiment and they evidently desire to see the incident die out as quickly as possible. Any attempt to reopen the old Dreyfus issue at the trial of Louis Gregori, the man who shot the major yesterday, they point out, can easily be frustrated as being plainly extraneous.

On the other hand the fury of the nationalist papers is unbounded. L'Action Francaise faced a broadside which recalls the most exciting days of Dreyfus and Boulanger. At the head of its columns this newspaper prints a statement by Charles Maurras which, it is likely, the authorities will investigate. In this article the writer says that on Wednesday night "a resolute patriot" visited M. Ducloux and Lieut. Boisselery, and himself offered to kill Dreyfus, but his proposal was rejected. A leading editorial in this paper appeals to the country to turn to the Duke of Orleans for redress and concludes as follows:

"Do you desire that Zola's body be ejected from the Pantheon?"

"Do you desire to march Dreyfus to the execution block? If so, invoke your king."

The paper also republishes long reviews of the Dreyfus case, insisting that he is a traitor.

The director of the court of cassation to cut off the time of an appeal, the paper says, is illegal and it concludes as follows:

"What we ask for Dreyfus is not six balls from a revolver, but the twelve bullets of the execution squad."

Other newspapers declare that Gregori, much grieved at the recent death of his mother, has lately manifested signs of mental derangement.

BOSTON, June 5.—Boston was the gathering place today of traveling salesmen from all parts of New England, who with their families and friends increased the city's population for the time being by almost 2000. The occasion was the annual convention of the grand council of New England United Commercial Travelers of America, which held its business sessions in Faneuil hall today and will also remain in the city through tomorrow.

The delegates present represented thirteen councils from all the New England states. The annual business meeting of the convention was called in Faneuil hall during the forenoon and there the delegates disposed of executive reports, considered minor changes in the by-laws and transacted miscellaneous business which was brought before them. While they were deliberating over the affairs of the body the ladies who accompanied them were enjoying a program of entertainment arranged for their benefit.

Tonight in Mechanics hall a reception has been arranged at which Acting Gov. Dupee, Mayor George A. Hibbard and representatives of the city's business interests are invited guests.

The weapon was discharged and the bullet entered Taylor's right eye. The victim was hurried to the Rhode Island hospital where his case is considered extremely dangerous. WILLIAM J. BRYAN

NOT PAID TO SUPPORT PARKER SAYS TIBBLES.

OMAHA, Neb., June 5.—Some light is thrown on the disposition of the now famous $15,000 campaign fund raised in New York in 1904 and spent in the Nebraska campaign by a statement given out today by Thomas Tibbles, the populist nominee for vice president in 1904. At that time Mr. Tibbles was editor of the Independent at Lincoln and Bryan's Communion was printed by the Independent plant. Bryan's editorial desk was in the Independent office. Mr. Tibbles says: "I knew right where $500 of that New York fund went. It went into a special edition of 50,000 copies of the Independent which was gotten out for the purpose of clearing George Berger for governor. The entire paper was given up to his candidacy in that election. The Independent was populist and Berger was the fusion candidate for governor. This amount was handed us by Tom Allen, James Dahlman and Col. John Maher and they secured the funds from the democratic national committee on a trip which they made to New York. I do not know what became of the other $14,500, but I know positively of the disposition of that $500."

"I also know about that charge that the $15,000 was sent to Nebraska to get Bryan to support Parker. The day after Bryan returned from the St. Louis convention he dropped into the Independent office, sat down at his desk and began writing an editorial. The first words were: 'Shall support Parker.' We put that editorial in type and ran it in the Communion the following week. All that was done long before there was any talk of needing money in the Nebraska election and should dispose of the ridiculous talk about Bryan being paid to support Parker."

GREEK MET GREEK BRINGS RICHES

And Nail on Wall Did Invention Was Made in the Rest Prison Cell

BANGOR, Me., June 5.—An invention which he perfected during 19 years he served in prison on a charge of murder will soon bring wealth to Calvin P. Graves, unless plans which were under way fail. He has been offered $100,000 for the patent, which is an improvement for sewing machines, and he is now in New York to complete the transfer, the offer having been accepted by him.

On Nov. 8, 1886, Calvin Graves shot and killed Lyman O. Hill, a game warden, and Charles Niles in the woods in Hancock county. Hill took a dog Graves had with him and killed the animal, claiming the dog was chasing deer. In the passion of the moment Graves killed Hill and Niles. He was charged only with the murder of Hill, and was sentenced to imprisonment for life in the state prison on April 26.

At the meeting of Gov. Hill and his council on Dec. 16, 1904, Graves' sentence was commuted to 25 years, and with the time off for good behavior, he was released from prison in 1906, having served more than 10 years, and returned to his old home in North Hancock, where his wife and a crippled son awaited him.

While in state prison he worked in the harness shop. While using his harness sewing machine in the prison an idea entered his head whereby a machine might be made to do nearly double the work of the present models.

After long study and experimenting in his cell, he perfected the device. Although he said but little about it, news of the invention leaked out and an agent of a sewing machine manufacturer visited the prison, saw the model and offered $20,000 for it.

Graves told the agent that he had no use for the money and doubted the legal status of any negotiations as he was practically a dead man in the eyes of the law, when his commutation was received and his status was restored.

Graves continued to perfect his invention and negotiations were renewed, several rival agents bidding until it is said that Graves will return to his wife and crippled son at No. Hancock with $100,000 in cash.

69 ENGAGEMENTS

Between Japanese and Korean Troops

SEOUL, June 5.—The active movement to suppress the insurrection is now general throughout Korea. Japanese troops have been distributed in all disaffected provinces and an aggressive campaign has been inaugurated with a view of quickly capturing the various semi-autonomous bands of insurgents and suppressing the insurrectionary element.

The Associated Press representative has been officially informed that during the nine days ending June 4 sixty-nine engagements took place between the Japanese and Korean troops and the insurgents in which 37 were killed and 55 taken prisoners. The Japanese casualties have not been given out but are believed to have been considerable. All information regarding the movement of the troops is refused at the Japanese military headquarters. A considerable number of the police under the Japanese officers are participating in the campaign against the insurgents.

An Accidental Balk Tied the Score

And Lowell Won Out in the Extra Inning—Two New Men in Lowell Lineup, One of Whom Was a Pitcher

Lowell and New Bedford appeared at Washington park yesterday afternoon and there were two new faces in the lineup of Lowell team. Leslie Fish, an outfielder of Patterson team of the defunct Union league was given a trial in right garden, while Bowle, a Brockton pitcher, was on the slab, and both men covered their positions in a creditable manner.

Umpire Joseph O'Brien was on hand and called the game at 3:15 o'clock.

send a man over the plate. Barrows, the first man up, sent the ball over the right centre field fence for a homer. Moorehead hit to Shannon and died at first. O'Brien hit to Wolfe and never reached the initial base. Kehoe flied out to Fish.

In the latter half of the inning Shannon drew a free pass. He went to second on "Ginger's" sacrifice. Howard also drew a free pass. Duff flied out to Moorehead. Wolfe was third out on a fly to O'Brien.

Ainsworth got first on a scratch hit. Greenwell went in to bat for Bowle and drew a base on balls. Shannon sacrificed, advancing both men. Zinsner hit to Adler and was thrown out at first but Ainsworth scored. Labelle in going to deliver the ball made a balk and Greenwell scored. Labelle and the umpire got into an argument and the former was fined $5. Howard flied out to Barrows.

Score—Lowell 4, New Bedford 1.

Tenth Inning. In the tenth inning Rivard went in to pitch. Greenwell was benched. Barrows hit to Wolfe and was retired at first. Moorehead got a single to left field. O'Brien struck out. Kehoe hit to Wolfe forcing Moorehead at second.

Duff got a single. Wolfe bunted to Bartliffe who threw to second to get Duff, but Duff beat the ball. Harris advanced both men with a sacrifice. Fish got a single and scored Duff. The score:

DIAMOND NOTES

At Glen Forest today and back home tomorrow.

Ed. Arundel, president of the Lawrence baseball association, upon learning that Patsey Donovan was to farm out Jimmy March to Albion, Pa., took the first train to Brooklyn and got Jimmy back to Lawrence where he played a star game yesterday. If Lawrence doesn't have good ball this season it will not be Arundel's fault.

Lawrence has a first class team now and in fact has some men on the bench who would help out other teams. There's Tony Chambliss, for instance, a fine little ball player.

If ever a man was mad he was H. Henry Labelle, when he tied the score on an accidental balk. It was the last of the eighth, too, and one run avoided to tie and a man on third. Labelle was about to deliver a "splitter" and he had a full grown dose of saliva on the sphere. In delivering the ball Henry always gives a double swing and then shoots. He made the first swing and as his hand came up the slippery sphere got away from him and went straight into the air 15 feet over Henry's head while the latter caught it as it came down. "How's that for a balk," cried the Lowell players and the crowd. "Come in," called Umpire O'Brien to Greenwell on third. And then there were doings. Labelle first wanted to hit him. O'Brien put on a fine of $5 and Labelle was backed away, loudly protesting. Jimmie Canavan, the peach-blossomer of his countenance, heightened by his indignation, vowed that O'Brien was a stiff of an umpire and that he would protest the game. But there was nothing to it and O'Brien was right with a 72-point R. A balk is a balk whether made intentionally or by accident.

There are nine sections to rule 34, relative to balks and this case is covered by sections 1 and 8. Here they are:

Section 1—A balk shall be any motion made by the pitcher while in position to deliver the ball to the bat without delivering it, or to throw to first base when occupied by a base runner, without completing the throw.

Section 8—A balk shall be making any motion of the arm, shoulder, hip or body the pitcher habitually makes in his method of delivery, without immediately delivering the ball to the bat. Manager Canavan has a fat chance to protest the game against these rules.

Leslie Fish of the Patterson, N. J., team of the Union league, which despite its name was without strength and is now among the dead ones, played left field for Lowell. He hadn't much to do and did it well. The other new man was Bowle from Brockton. For eight innings Bowle went along like an auto on a state highway but in the ninth a single, double and triple in "concussion" put a dent in Bowle's blade and he didn't finish the game.

STRONG PROTEST

Made by Tyler Park Residents

AGAINST LOCATING STABLE THERE

Lively Hearing Before Board of Health

The petition of Ada F. Weiler for permission to construct and maintain a stable for six horses on a lot of land at the corner of Pine and Sanders streets, mention of which has already been made in The Sun, was given an airing by the board of health at a meeting held yesterday afternoon.

Tyler Park was well represented and the remonstrants were very explicit and very determined. They would not stand for anything that would interfere with the pleasantness of Tyler park, with the pleasantness of the city.

Lawyer William W. Duncan represented a number of residents of Tyler park and he was the first to be heard. "Tyler park," said Mr. Duncan, "is primarily a residential part of the city, a place of residence, and it is an attractive and beautiful place, where people have built handsome homes, and beautiful residences, under the impression that that section of the city was to be purely residential, where no business was to be conducted."

"If a horse boarding business should be allowed to enter here, that locality would be rendered undesirable, and reduce values of property, to the detriment of residents of that district. There is plenty of room in other parts of the city for such business, without going into the residential part."

"And a boarding stable is objectionable on other grounds than that of beauty. The odor from a stable is very distasteful, and disease frequently emanates from stables."

"These people have no desire to be mean, or to persecute the people who bring this petition before you, but it is unfair to the citizens of Lowell to destroy not only aesthetic beauty, but also financial value in that section. If this precedent is made, in a short time other business will creep in, and practically spoil the place for the residents."

Edward B. Pierce, of 17 Belmont street, who owns two lots in Florence avenue, said: "200 feet from my house there is a stable licensed to keep horses, and when I am dreaming at night, I am awakened very often by the stamping of horses, even at that distance. You know how like a bass drum the stamping of a horse sounds at night, and I don't think it is fair for a man worth perhaps $1000 to be kept awake by a horse worth $25. Not only that, but a stable is a common source of disease, and typhoid fever is a common result of unclean stables."

Rev. A. Frederick Dunne, pastor of the Highland Congregational church, objected on the grounds that he could not do his work properly unless he had peace and quiet, and that he said, was impossible with such a place near his study. "I cannot do my work under distracting noises," he said, "and after I have finished my work for the day, I must have quiet to sleep in, or else I shall not be fit for my next day's work."

"I know what I am talking about, for I lived near a stable for a long time, and although it was very cleanly kept, and the people who owned it were very good people, still, it was there and I had to move."

"We all know that the fly is the enemy of mankind, and there is no breeding place for flies so bad as a stable. We come here to remonstrate against this petition and we say that it is not fair to the people of Lowell to grant permission for this stable to be built."

Mrs. Dr. Drew objected, quite vigorously, to the stable and gave as her opinion that it was the Fleischmann Yeast company that wanted it. "If the Fleischmann Yeast company wants such a stable," said Mrs. Drew, "why do they come here in the guise of this woman who is petitioning for the stable?"

W. H. Bent, Esq., proved a strong and vigorous remonstrant and he drew the fire of Mr. Weiler, who declared that the Fleischmann Yeast company was not interested in the petition.

Mr. Bent also brought out the point that in the original deeds of the land around Tyler park, there was a clause restricting the use of the land to residential purposes. "They have no right to build a stable on any part of Tyler park, and I am speaking now as a lawyer," he said.

While Mr. Bent was speaking, Mr. Weiler begged the privilege of an interruption and said:

"I'd like to say that Mr. Fleischmann is not at all interested in this petition, and is being grossly misrepresented here by this gentleman."

Mr. Bent—"That is false."

Mr. Weiler—"Now I don't want any one of these people here to think that the Fleischmann company has anything to do with this, at all, for this gentleman is wrong, and is grossly misrepresenting the case."

Mr. Bent—"I consider your remarks insulting."

Mr. Weiler—"Well, you'll hear from me later."

Dr. Huntress interposed. "I'll give you a chance later, Mr. Weiler," he said.

Mr. Bent—"Well, if Mr. Fleischmann has nothing to do with it, I am glad, and I shall think a great deal more of Mr. Fleischmann. But even if the stable is all right, there is the old saying, 'Dam a dy.' This is no joke, it is too serious a matter."

Mr. Bent was followed by Wm. F. Hills, Mrs. Ada F. Ferriss, Mrs. Mary J. Sherman, Mrs. W. H. Fuller, Wm. A. Parthenais, W. F. Lane and John Con-

you," said Dr. Huntress.

"I don't care two straws whether this petition is granted or not, but it is a question of personal privacy, and as I am a taxpayer, I think that I have the right to do as I choose with my land, so long as I conform to the laws of the board of health."

Mr. Bent—"May I quote Mr. Weiler?"

Mr. Weiler—"Certainly."

Mr. Bent—"Will you stand down in front here, where I can see you?"

Mr. Weiler—"I'm not used to making a public exhibition of myself as you are."

Mr. Bent—"Do all of these six horses belong to Ada F. Weiler?"

Mr. Weiler—"I decline to answer."

Mr. Bent—"Then they don't belong to her?"

Mr. Weiler—"I don't see what that has to do with the question."

Mr. Bent—"What are the horses used for?"

Mr. Weiler—"For driving purposes."

Mr. Bent—"Are you driving now?"

Mr. Weiler—"No, I am not."

Dr. Huntress—"Are any of these horses used for the purpose of carrying mail or for the purpose of carrying passengers?"

Mr. Weiler—"No, they are not."

Mr. Bent—"Are you driving now?"

Mr. Weiler—"No, I am not."

Mr. Bent—"What are the horses used for?"

Mr. Weiler—"For driving purposes."

Mr. Bent—"Are you driving now?"

Mr. Weiler—"No, I am not."

Dr. Huntress—"Are any of these horses

own this land? I understand that they do not, and if that is so, then I consider this petition an impertinent one."

Mrs. Weiler also appeared to second her husband's remarks, and two other people made short speeches, saying that they did not object at all to a stable in that district.

"I am as healthy as any lady here, and I've always lived near horses. I am very fond of horses, in fact I love them, and furthermore my horses and stable are as clean as anybody's," said Mrs. Weiler, and then the meeting was declared closed.

HOKE SMITH

DEFEATED FOR GOVERNOR IN GEORGIA PRIMARIES.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 5.—All returns up to midnight indicate the nomination of Joseph M. Brown, governor of Georgia, in the democratic primary held yesterday by a plurality of about 15,000.

The Constitution estimates that Brown has won by from 15,000 to 25,000. The Brown managers claim the plurality is larger.

Gov. Smith's campaign managers decline to make a statement and the governor himself says that he cannot comment on the result until today.

In all the eleven congressional districts indications are that the present democratic congressmen will be returned, the only doubt being in the case of Fifth, where James Mayson may contest the election with Congressman J. W. Livingston.

There was no contest over the United States senatorship, S. C. Clay being the popular choice.

The primary results mean election in Georgia.

THE MEASURE MAKES IT POSSIBLE FOR WALL STREET TO UNLOAD UPON THE GOVERNMENT $500,000,000 OF UNSALEABLE SECURITIES OF INDEFINITE VALUE. SOME OF THEM PERHAPS ENTIRELY WORTHLESS.

THIS IS A CRIME AGAINST THE PEOPLE, A CRIME FOR WHICH THE REPUBLICAN PARTY ALONE IS RESPONSIBLE.

IT WAS THE TWO LEADERS ALDRICH AND CANNON WHO JAMMED THE MEASURE THROUGH AT THE LAST MINUTE IN THE FACE OF STERN OPPOSITION FROM THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY WHO AT THE REQUEST OF WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN SUPPORTED SENATOR LA FOLLETTE IN HIS VIGOROUS OPPOSITION TO THE MEASURE.

THROUGH HIS CONFIDENTIAL ADVISERS, EVEN PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT WAS LED TO COMMIT THE ADMINISTRATION TO THE BILL.

ON THE CONTRARY MR. BRYAN ADVISED THE PARTY WISELY SHOWING A CLEARER PERCEPTION OF THE EVIL TENDENCIES OF THE MEASURE THAN WAS SHOWN BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

THE REPUBLICANS WANTED SOME CURRENCY LEGISLATION, TO MEET THE LACK OF ELASTICITY IN THE PRESENT SYSTEM BUT IN GOING OVER TO THE CAMP OF THE WALL STREET SPECULATORS THEY HAVE BETRAYED THE PEOPLE.

IN THEIR REFUSAL TO INTERFERE WITH THE DUTY ON WOOD PULP FOR THE RELIEF OF THE PUBLISHERS, THE REPUBLICAN PARTY SHOWED ITS LOYALTY TO THE TRUSTS AND IN PASSING THIS CURRENCY MEASURE THAT PARTY HAS FORMED A CORRUPT ALLIANCE WITH THE MONEY POWER AND ITS WORST REPRESENTATIVES, THE STOCK GAMBLERS IN WALL STREET. INSTEAD OF BEING IMPROVED THE CURRENCY SYSTEM IS NOW CHANGED FOR THE WORSE, AND THIS UNDER THE GUISE OF PROTECTING THE PEOPLE AGAINST THE MONEY STRINGENCY THAT CREATES A PANIC.

IT APPEARS THAT THERE IS NO SCHEME, NO DEAL, NO CRIME AGAINST THE PEOPLE TO WHICH THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IS NOT READY TO STOOP IN ORDER TO PERPETUATE ITSELF IN POWER. VERILY IT IS TIME FOR AN AWAKENING OF THE PEOPLE TO THE ENORMITY OF THE ROBBERIES WHICH WILL BE FOSTERED BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY AS A MEANS OF SECURING A CONTINUANCE OF ITS CONTROL OF THE GOVERNMENT.

CANNON AS DICTATOR

WHEN SPEAKER CANNON ORDERED AN INVESTIGATION OF THE PAPER TRUST, SOME PEOPLE, INCLUDING OURSELVES, GAVE HIM CREDIT FOR HONEST INTENTIONS BUT NOW THAT THE BLUFF INVESTIGATION IS OVER, THAT CANNON AND HIS PARTY FRIENDS HAVE REFUSED TO RECOMMEND ANY CHANGE IN THE TARIFF THE OBJECT OF THE WHOLE SCHEME IS APPARENT. IT WAS SIMPLY TO THROW DUST IN THE EYES OF THE PUBLIC AND GIVE SOME PLEA OF JUSTIFICATION TO THE REPUBLICANS FOR REFUSING TO DISTURB THE TRUST.

THE INVESTIGATION HAD NOT GONE FAR WHEN IT WAS APPARENT TO THE MOST SUPERFICIAL OBSERVER THAT THE TRUST WAS CONTROLLING PRICES. THAT IT HAD FORMED A CONSPIRACY IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE AND THAT THE ONLY REMEDY WAS A REDUCTION OF THE TARIFF.

CANNON WOULD NOT TOLERATE SUCH A THING. IT WOULD RELIEVE THE PUBLISHERS OF COURSE BUT IT WOULD DEPRIVE THE PARTY OF THE SUPPORT OF CERTAIN TRUSTS AND WOULD MOREOVER BE OPPOSED TO THE POLICY OF THE STANDPATERS. IMPERIOUS AS WAS THE LATE SPEAKER REED HE WAS NOT NEARLY SO MUCH OF A CZAR IN JAMMING OBSCURIOUS AND EXTREMELY PARTISAN LEGISLATION THROUGH THE HOUSE AS IS SPEAKER CANNON.

CANNON WHILE REGARDED AS IN HIS DOTAGE IS ALLOWED TO DO THINGS THAT IN THEMSELVES MARK HIM AS THE MOST UNSCRUPULOUS DICTATOR THAT EVER OCCUPIED THE SPEAKERS CHAIR.

REDUCTION IN POSTAGE

NOW THAT THE POSTAGE BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND THE BRITISH ISLES IS REDUCED TO TWO CENTS AN OUNCE INSTEAD OF FIVE CENTS FOR THE FIRST OUNCE AND THREE CENTS FOR EVERY ADDITIONAL OUNCE, WILL THE MAILS BE TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF FOR THE PURPOSE OF EVADING TARIFF DUTIES ON RIBBON, LACE AND OTHER THINGS THAT CAN BE READILY MAILED IN A LETTER BEARING A TWO CENT STAMP? THE REDUCTION WILL INCREASE THE REVENUE AND INCREASE BY A LARGE PERCENTAGE THE WEIGHT OF THE MAILS.

DIED SUDDENLY

Woman Passed Away in Lodging House

BOSTON, June 5.—Miss Winifred Doyle, 35 years old, and living with her mother, sister at 77 Cabot street, Roxbury, died yesterday afternoon at a South End lodging house under peculiar circumstances.

DON'T BE WITHOUT IT

If everybody knew the usefulness of Peroxide Hydrogen, it would be in every household. As a mouth wash, it is more important and necessary than tooth brush or powder. Germs are positively and instantly killed when brought into contact with it. For tonsillitis, diphtheria, etc., it has no equal. A four-ounce bottle for eight comes 25c. Guaranteed proper strength. Howard, the druggist, 150 Central street. Open till midnight.

Living at 25 Fort street, Roxbury, is held at police station 5 by orders from the medical examiner, pending the result of an autopsy to be performed today.

Nearly a dozen broken capsules, a medicine dropper and a portion of a glass of water found on the table in Miss Doyle's room were taken by the police, and handed over to the medical examiner. Until he makes his report it will not be definitely known whether Miss Doyle died a natural death or committed suicide.

Nesbit, at first was so unnerved by the woman's death that he told the police no more than that he had found a body in the room, but finally gave a detailed statement of his connection with the case, which appears creditable to the police.

About 2:30 yesterday afternoon, Nesbit and Miss Doyle called at 7 Appleton street, a respectable lodging house, and applied for a room. Nesbit, according to the occupants of the house, said his companion had been taken sick, and eventually they hired an attic room for a night.

Shortly after returning to her room the attention of a young woman occupant of a room adjoining was attracted by the groans from the sick woman's room. Nesbit was hastily dispatched for a physician and returned with Dr. H. J. Cate of 23 Warren avenue, who found the young woman beyond medical assistance. She died in less than a minute after his arrival, suffering severe pains during her last moments.

The police were informed, and after questioning Nesbit detained him as a witness.

EIGHT OFFICERS

TRIED BY COURT MARTIAL AND SENTENCED TO PRISON.

BERLIN, June 5.—Eight non-commissioned officers of the Guard Artillery Regiment, who were tried by court martial have been sentenced to terms of imprisonment varying from two weeks to fifteen months. They were charged with the maltreatment of subordinates. There were no fewer than six hundred counts in the charges against the principal prisoner, Sergeant Thamm, who is said to have carried a junior to court martial for fear of further ill-treatment. Thamm, according to the evidence of the soldiers, freely used horsewhips and bludgeons upon his victims and forced them to run the gauntlet between two lines of old soldiers.

KIRK ST. CHURCH

HELD A STRAWBERRY SUPPER LAST NIGHT.

The attraction at the Kirk street church last evening was the annual strawberry festival and it was well attended. It was in charge of the Women's association of the church of which Mrs. F. Frank Horne and Mrs. Edward Lyman were chairmen.

Supper was served from 6.30 to 8 o'clock and was followed by a musical program consisting of piano selections by Miss Ruth Hill, Miss M. Simpson and Miss Dora Wragg; violin selection by Mr. Thomas Buckley; Rev. Dr. Martin announced the numbers.

A pleasing feature of the evening was a display of baskets, grass work, fans and other articles from Rev. D. S. Herrick at Mandara, India, sent to Rev. Dr. Martin by the church. The display was looked after by Miss Susan McEvoy and Miss Ruth Lein, has, dressed in costumes of India. The affair included sale tables and they did a thriving business. The flower table was presided over by Miss Mary Lamson and Mrs. John Boyd with a committee of delightful assistants. The cake table was in charge of Miss Marietta Wheeler and Mrs. John Simpson had charge of the domestic table. The members of the "S. B. H." society of the church showed a display of fans and other articles, made during the past season and which will be distributed to the children at the hospitals of the city at a future date.

PRES. ROOSEVELT

GOING TO HUNT BIG GAME IN AFRICA.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Soon after March 4, 1900, Mr. Roosevelt will start for British East Africa for a hunting trip of a year or more after big game. He will be accompanied only by his son Kermit. This statement comes from the White House, and is authoritative.

Not only will the president go direct to Africa—not stopping in Europe—but he will return from this direct to the Philippines was explicitly denied yesterday by Secretary Loeb.

The president will enter British East Africa at Bombosa. He will travel north and south as the seasons make desirable. He has been engaged for weeks with great enthusiasm of preparations for the trip and is reading deeply into African literature. He is making plans as to commissariat, guns, ammunition and the like. He will buy two elephant guns for himself and son, and will go with a first-class hunting arsenal.

TRAFFIC RETURNS

ON NEW HAVEN ROAD SHOW GREAT IMPROVEMENT.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 5.—The traffic returns of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad for the month of May show that there has been practically no improvement in the freight receipts. Passenger business, however, shows only a slight diminution as compared with last year. A very early improvement, however, in the freight business is looked for, as the reports of agents show that the resumption of work in the cotton mills includes practically every factory in the New England territory, the majority of which must soon reach the company's lines. In the woolen business, factory resumption has been very light, and in the metallic industries on the system there has been practically no change, the chief center of depression being still the Naugatuck valley.

On navigation lines of the company, the diminished business still continues, affecting both passengers and freight. In Rhode Island, where the trolley system of the company was showing serious losses, those losses have been of late much diminished and the trolley situation there is steadily improving.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS CONGRESS

NEW YORK, June 5.—A prosperity convention of the Commercial Travellers Interstate Congress will be held in New York August 14, and 15, under the auspices of the Travellers' Protective Association and the United Commercial Travellers, which have a combined membership of 30,000. The travellers are making an effort to promote a feeling of confidence and optimism in every city and district of the country.

KETCHELL'S BOUT

Billy Papke Lost the Decision

BATTLE WAS A FAST ONE

Was Witnessed by 6000 Spectators

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 5.—Stanley Ketchell of Grand Rapids, Mich., last night got the decision over Billy Papke of Keweenaw, Ill., at the end of a fast ten round bout before 6000 spectators at the Milwaukee Boxing Club at the Hippodrome building. The contest was furious from the top of the going to the finish, with the exception of clinches. Time and time again Ketchell forced Papke to the ropes with onslaughts of rights and lefts to the head and body. Ketchell appealed to the referee to break the clinches repeatedly. Ketchell, in the first round, took considerable steam out of Papke by landing a terrific right to the jaw, sending the Keweenaw boy to his knees. NEW HAVEN ROAD

Dissatisfied With the Merger Bill

NEW HAVEN, June 4.—As regards the proposed merger bill passed by the Massachusetts legislature yesterday, having in view the railroad companies' attitude, a strong probability exists that the bill will not pass the Massachusetts legislature.

of the corporation. Special objection is made to that one of these two sections which calls for the transfer of voting power to the Massachusetts commission on the 35 percent of Boston & Maine shares held by the New Haven company. Such a transfer appears to be regarded by New Haven officers as almost tantamount to an alienation of their shares and as giving undue influence to the Massachusetts commission.

It is also ascertained pretty definitely that the company will remain passive in the federal suit until the form of the decree under the recent finding of the Massachusetts supreme court is made definite. Thus far, it is understood, the propositions coming from Attorney General Malone as to the form of the decree have been indeterminate in character and asking for an injunction or little more. When the decree is made specific by the attorney general the New Haven company is expected to take the form of the decree away to the supreme court and a new trial, or even a number of them is looked for.

Points in the decree may also raise questions that must go to the United States supreme court. It is now regarded in railroad circles here as almost certain that the case will pass into another federal administration.

In regard to the merger it can also be stated on the authority of a high railroad officer here that the interchange of additional Boston & Maine shares on even terms with New Haven shares has been indefinitely postponed and is not in any event likely to be considered for some time to come. At the time when the large block of Boston and Maine shares was purchased, such a continued exchange was arranged for and some twenty million dollars at par in New Haven shares was kept in the treasury of the company for that purpose. Events in Massachusetts since the purchase was made have changed the attitude of the New Haven company.

MATRIMONIAL

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Teague, 170 Church street, Wednesday evening. The occasion being the marriage of their niece, Miss Sarah Devine, to Mr. Edward Higgins of Peabody, Mass. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Moran at St. Peter's parsonage at 6 o'clock.

After the ceremony a delightful wedding supper was served at the home of the bride by the Dr. L. Page Co. The bride was beautifully attired in white silk tulle and wore a charming white picture hat. She carried a bouquet of white flowers. The bridegroom, looking very pretty in a dark suit, wore a white bow tie and carried a white picture hat. The happy couple received a host of useful and artistic gifts. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. Thomas Devine, brother of the bride, and family, of Dedham; Mr. and Mrs. Higgins, parents of the bridegroom; Miss Teresa and Miss Mary Higgins, sisters, and Mr. James Higgins, brother of the bridegroom, of Peabody; Miss Mary E. Donohue, Mr. Thomas Donohue, and Miss Sarah McCarty of Groveland, and Mr. John Reedy of Lowell. Mr. and Mrs. Higgins left Lowell on the 4:30 train for Boston. They will go on a visit to the bride's brother, Mr. Dennis Devine of New York city, who for business reasons was unable to attend the wedding. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Higgins will reside in Peabody, where Mr. Higgins is engaged in business. At home after July 6.

ROPER-MCCOY

A very pretty wedding occurred at the rectory of the Immaculate Conception church when Mr. Mark Roper, son of the well known florist, Mr. Albert Roper of Tewksbury, was united in marriage with Miss Mary I. McCoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McCoy, also of Tewksbury. Rev. Fr. Reynolds, O. M. I., performed the ceremony. Miss Jessie Callahan, cousin of the bride was bridesmaid, and Mr. James McCoy, brother of the bride, was best man. After the ceremony the couple left on an evening train for New York, New Jersey and other points of interest.

SALARY JUMP

Defeated by Companions of the Forest

NEW OFFICERS WERE INSTALLED

Next Convention to Be Held in Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, June 4.—The Massachusetts circle, Companions to the Foresters of America, closed its annual state convention in this city yesterday afternoon.

The session was characterized by a contest over the report of the committee on laws in favor of an increase in salaries, but the opposition won by a large majority.

The administration claimed that it was unfair to compel the officers to look after the business of the grand circle without increased compensation. The opposition contended that if the expenses had increased so much the past year there was every reason to believe that an additional expenditure would be made the coming year. The per capita tax, it was alleged, had been increased this year and if there was a raise in salaries another increase would be necessary in 1909.

The report of the committee on the state of the order showed a gain of more than 1200 members since the last convention.

The committee on ritualistic work reported an improvement and a generally prosperous and peaceful condition in the entire state.

Supreme Chief Companion Evelyn Sawyer installed the officers elected yesterday. She was assisted by Miss Mamie Gibson of Lynn, supreme state deputy, and by a team of Marlboro young women from Pride of the Forest circle. The team consisted of Florence Meagher, Mary Kavanaugh, Della Kane, May Roberts, Josephine Carey, Katherine Lynch, Katherine Mahoney, Susie Fee, Jennie Green, Lila Lyons, May Conway, Cora Fay, and Nellie Kenney. Mrs. Nan Burke was pianist.

The Marlboro degree team then exemplified the work of the order. A committee on ways and means was appointed and is composed of Mrs. Johnson of Fitchburg, Mrs. Ella Crozier of North Adams, Miss Leola La Roche of Hudson, Miss Josephine Miloney of Boston, and Miss Mollie Justice of Lawrence.

So well pleased were the companions with this city as a place for holding their meetings that they voted at the afternoon session to hold the state convention here next year in the first week in June.

Mrs. Sawyer was presented with a brooch and gold pencil; a gold necklace was given to Miss Julia McCarthy of Lynn, grand financial secretary; Mrs. Bertha Crittenden of this city, the grand treasurer, was presented with a gold necklace and a bouquet, and Mrs. Catherine Flaherty, the retiring recording secretary, received a cut-glass gift.

MERCHANTS MEET

And Discuss Business at Supper Table

Frank P. Putnam Addressed the Gathering—Subjects of Credit System, Co-operative Outing, Bargain Day and Co-operative Express Co., Discussed

The Lowell Merchants' Association held its monthly dinner in the Colonial building last evening with about 30 guests present and matters of importance were discussed, the credit system, a co-operative express company, co-operative advertising and summer outing.

The address of the evening was made by Mr. Frank P. Putnam of Putnam & Sons who spoke as follows:

MR. PUTNAM'S ADDRESS.

It is a source of great satisfaction to see so many members of the Merchants' Association present in this pleasant room and for this privilege we are indebted to the courtesy of Messrs. Nelson and Chaffin.

I am sure that the association will express its appreciation of the kind words of these gentlemen before the meeting dissolves. It is a pleasure in which every member must share to realize that there is an awakened and broadened interest in the Merchants' Association by those to whom such an organization can be of the greatest value. In order, however, that the association shall continue to be a permanent in character, it seems to me that some definite steps should be taken to complete its organization.

The by-laws need to be revised and broadened, and these should be printed with a membership list attached, and a copy of the same sent to each member. A board of directors should be chosen to act as a governing body; standing committees be appointed to have in charge questions that are of permanent and vital importance to the association and, while the secretary's office should properly remain in charge of one of our members, if you care to increase our yearly dues, a paid corresponding secretary should be employed—one who can give close attention to the general business of the association, who can issue the notices required for the meetings and those concerning matters of importance authorized by the directors or the standing committee and who can by his personal efforts increase the membership of this organization until the Merchants' Association embraces practically every merchant, wholesaler and retailer in the city. It should be possible to do this for nothing more apparent than that what is for the benefit of one is for the good of all.

If these suggestions seem of value to you, committee may be appointed to prepare new or revise the old by-laws and submit a report at our next meeting. Two same committee might also be requested to present at the same time with its report, the names of five members who are not officers to be voted for, with the present officers, as directors of the association, to hold office until the annual meeting in March next.

I think that if some action is taken along these lines that the Merchants' association will be greatly strengthened and its membership increased four-fold. I presume that you have all learned through the newspapers that we, the Lowell merchants, are as a whole a pretty poor lot—lacking in public spirit, selfish, self-centered and miserably speaking, "back numbers." Now what do you think of that? It strikes me as an important thing. I believe there is as much generosity, public spirit, ability and get there in "little old Lowell" as you will find in any other community of its size and, "I was not born yesterday." However, if our friends at city hall can manage to find new ways of spending money and increasing office taxes, and our friends, the newspaper publishers—who wouldn't publish if it were not for us—can invent new excuses for increasing their advertising rates—we shall be forgiven if we don't dig down into our purses and toss in $1000 bills for an extra year. We all want Lowell known as a wide-awake and progressive city, but the only way to do this is to increase the fame of Lowell, and to which we shall all gladly contribute.

In closing, I want to refer to the death of a good man and a great man—one whom you all knew—Dr. John C. Irish. And I do so because I believe that in his death we all recognize a public loss. Standing at the very head of his profession, of consummate skill and original methods in his chosen department of surgery—he had won recognition both at home and abroad as a man of splendid ability and rare judgment, and I speak of him because he was in a degree a public character who did more perhaps than any one of us can do to make Lowell known as the home of gifted men.

BUSINESS MATTERS DISCUSSED.

At the conclusion of Mr. Putnam's address Mr. A. A. Spero of the King Clothing Co. took up the matter of a credit system. He believed that to install such a system an increase of dues is necessary that a recording secretary may be employed who would take charge of the work. He advised putting over the matter until a later date.

Mr. Knapp of the Lowell One Price Clothing Company suggested that the work be done on a commission basis and Mr. Dickson spoke in opposition to the raising of the dues. He suggested a rate of about $2 enabling the heads of departments in the various stores to become members.

James O'Sullivan said that the question was a delicate one and could not be settled without proper consideration. He stated that the world might not know all about such a system conducted by the stores and was opposed to the commission scheme.

On the motion of Frederick Garrett it was voted to postpone the dues to $3 a year to take effect this current year. A motion for reconsideration by Mr. O'Sullivan was lost.

MERCHANTS' WEEK DISCUSSED.

Mr. O'Sullivan, for the Merchants' week committee, reported progress, but asked for more time. He believed the week would be a success. Careful arrangements must be made before final action is taken. Then the matter of a store clerks' outing was discussed and the question was asked as to how many would attend. It was stated that the Pollard employees alone would number 200 and Mr. O'Sullivan remarked:

"Here is one man who can furnish a picnic by himself and can show those that think the city is lacking that it can go some when it gets started."

Frederick Garrett of the committee in charge of the outing, stated that there were but two places where such an outing could be held, Canobie lake or Salem Willows. The matter was left in abeyance for further investigation, and on motion of Mr. Green of Green Brothers it was voted that all stores in the association should close all day on the occasion about its working.

The matter of co-operative advertising and that of a bargain day were then discussed. Mr. Putnam suggested Monday because the stores were open in the evening. Messrs. O'Sullivan and Knowlton favored Monday. Mr. O'Sullivan at this point said:

"There isn't a home in Lowell that is not a sight Monday morning from the waste of papers scattered all over the house. And those papers try to tell the poor benighted people here, 25 miles from Boston, what bargains can be obtained there. The trouble with you is that you advertise too honestly. You tell the truth."

After further discussion in which several members of the association took part, it was voted that a committee interview the various newspaper publishers in the city in regard to special Thursday advertising in connection with the proposed bargain day.

CO-OPERATIVE EXPRESS.

Mr. Spero then took up the matter of co-operative express companies and quoted figures of the Merchants' Co-operative Express Co. of Lawrence.

"The city of Lawrence has a merchants' express controlled by the merchants of that city, and thinking it might interest you, I made it my business to go over there and secure some information about its workings."

"Mr. Sutherland of Robertson & Sutherland, president of the express company, kindly gave me the facts that I now lay before you to show you what can be done as a body. While I don't say that we can do what they succeeded in doing, we can at least discuss it. It is practical to have a freight service express company to handle our goods, similar to the service of the Manchester & Concord."

"The company is incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts with a capital stock of $5000 in 100 shares to the merchants themselves. The stock of any member who desires to sell on his holdings can be sold only to some other member of the association in Lawrence. There are 11 members of the executive board, and the express company and the firm has been in existence for 12 years, during which it has made money."

"They have an advantage in Lawrence that we could hardly have there, and that is the messenger service. But if all the merchants here would get together, it would be possible to have an express company like that in this city."

A good profit has been made by the merchants' express, so I was informed. What I stated above is another case of what a merchant association can do. That is why I say there are opportunities for improving ourselves if we come together regularly."

Mr. O'Sullivan was the last to address the gathering. He pronounced a touching eulogy upon the death of Dr. Irish. He also moved that a vote of thanks be tendered Messrs. Nelson and Chaffin for the use of the dining apartments and the elevator service.

In closing Mr. O'Sullivan presented a motion for the appointment of a committee by the chair to revise the by-laws and a resolution to discontinue the association. Mr. Garrett opposed the motion to the effect that a representative of all the business in the association be on the committee, and the motion with the amendment was passed.

The meeting then adjourned to the call of the chair.

The dinner was served on the third floor of the Colonial building. The D. L. Page company catered. Among the guests were several ladies.

SOUTH END PARADE.

The South End is thoroughly enthused over the prospect of a celebration on the eve of July 4th. The fact that Major Josiah Fielding Fiske has joined hands with the South Enders is one of the causes of the enthusiasm. Major Fiske started out to collect yesterday and in the first hour secured $35. Fifteen collectors are going the rounds and already have pledged amounting to $200 and they feel confident that subscriptions will reach the $1000 mark.

The executive committee voted, by acclamation, to appoint Josiah Fielding Fiske as chief marshal of the parade, but the major allowed that the honor belonged to some one of the net-ive workers living in the South End of the city and despite the pressure of the committee to have him accept, he declined with thanks.

Secretary Harry J. Kelley has received numerous letters from organizations which have signified their intention to enter the contests for prizes and many more are expected. Major Fiske Associates have organized and will make a strong bid for the prizes. They propose to spring the unique feature which they say will surely land them within the money.

WINONA CAMP

WAS THE SCENE OF A DELICIOUS PILL-OTTING.

The young lady employees of the knitting room of the Shaw factory and their friends journeyed to Berwick last Sunday, where they were the guests of the Winona camp, at their spacious camp, situated on the banks of the upper Concord, and a most enjoyable time occurred.

The party arrived at the camp at an early hour and immediately boarded the many bunks which were at their disposal.

When the merry gathering returned to the camp, they found a delicious dinner awaiting them. The dinner was prepared by Mr. Chris. R. Toy, who was assisted by Mr. Arthur M. Flaherty.

After the inner man was taken care of, a musical and literary program was carried out, which consisted of songs by Miss Harriet Moran, solo by the Misses Alice Murningham, Carolyn Tyrrell, and Wida Lee; a duet by the Misses Sadie Madden and Florence Haynes; quartet selections by the Winona quartet, composed of the following: Messrs. Harry J. Lappin, Henry Thomas, Arthur M. Flaherty and Robert Gilson. There were piano selections by the Misses Carolyn Tyrrell and Cassie Spillane and a duet by the Misses Catherine Hessian and Elizabeth Murningham. Recitations were also given by Mr. Thomas Ambrose and Mr. Henry Thomas.

At night the camp grounds were brilliantly illuminated with Japanese lanterns.

The success of the affair was due to the untiring efforts of Miss Mary Nutter and Mr. John J. Murningham, who had general charge of the arrangement.

STRIKE ORDERED

40 MEN ARE EXPECTED TO LEAVE WORK.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 5.—Mr. Val Fitzpatrick, vice grand master of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, last night sent orders to all switchmen and brakemen on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, ordering them out on strike immediately.

Mr. Fitzpatrick yesterday afternoon sent a telegram to President Thomas of the railroad demanding the reinstatement of certain members of the brotherhood, who had left the service or had been discharged and requested an immediate reply. This not having been received, a strike order was issued.

Mr. Fitzpatrick said last night that the entire system between Paducah, Memphis and Atlanta would be affected. He estimates that about 400 men will go out. Railroad officials declare the system is not tied up.

TEXTILE SCHOOL

Able Address by Hon.
Carroll D. Wright

ON TEXTILE EDU-CATION

Principal Eames on Industrial Education

At the commencement exercises of the Lowell Textile school, held yesterday, a partial report of which appeared in The Sun, Hon. Carroll D. Wright, the guest of honor, delivered a very fine, wholesome and interesting address, speaking, of course, from the educational view point. He said in part:

"The necessity of textile education, especially, is something that we cannot wink out of sight. I have heard manufacturers bemoan the fact that the coarser cloths were manufactured in the south. For many years I have been a minority on that question and now the minority is getting to be the majority. This transference of coarse cotton production nearer to the source of supply has done much to make Massachusetts alive to just such institutions as this. Economically, it will help the whole country, because the prosperity of each section means the prosperity of the whole. England's raw material is principally ice and granite; but that means a sharpening of the senses. If you teach the man or the woman engaged in textile production not only the science, but the art of their trade, you have lifted them in every particular.

"Where young men and women are thoroughly trained in the art of the industry adopted for their life work, they make better citizens—understand the moral side of life better—than the untrained. You young men here understand the absolute necessity for exactness. It will not do for you to vary a fraction of a fraction of an inch, if you wish to produce the results. It is exactness, all along through your four years. The testimony of all who have been interested in this line of work is that a young man and woman trained to exactness to the economical use of raw material, has a mind cultivated to exactness in truth, in exactly the same way. It is the trained mind, that teaches people the integrity of life itself. This young man will go over to the Philippines and will carry there the moral fibre of the Lowell Textile school, as well as the knowledge how to use the native fibre in weaving.

"We hear a great deal about the corruption of this age. I am satisfied, after deep study, that the corruption of this age is less than that of any other; but the corruption of the age, whatever it is, can be lessened by skilled training. Academic training is all right, but it does not teach a man how to earn a living and a man who cannot earn a living for his family is an ignorant man, no matter how many letters he can attach to his name. President Eliot has said that a man who knows one branch of knowledge, is an ignorant man. Now, a man who knows one industry, from Alpha to Omega, is an educated man, whether he can translate Latin or Greek, or not.

"Here in Lowell you have undertaken to establish an institution which in time will do more toward solving or ameliorating the conditions of that ugly thing we call the labor problem, than anything else. Intelligence attracts intelligence. By and by, through such institutions as this, the working man will become so intelligent that he will not strike. That is what we are to work for, not to help men into ignorance, but to lead them out of ignorance into intelligence. We can only gain security and industrial peace by more intelligence, not by less. So the work of such institutions as this is the greatest and most hopeful of all."

PRINCIPAL EAMES' ADDRESS.

Principal Eames, the man who has entered heart and soul into the work of the Textile school, spoke in part, as follows:

Within the past few years much attention has been given in this country to the

She wants an Eddy Refrigerator as it is the most durable and most economical. All this home satisfaction can be had at question of industrial education. This has aroused the greatest interest in the eastern and northeastern section where the tendency is to turn from agricultural to industrial and commercial pursuits. The apparent ease of attaining the higher positions in the business world, accompanied by attractive surroundings and resources in the modern world, makes the south look backward at any pool which does not lead to the largest field of usefulness and personal development and which also offers a lucrative return. The literature demands a broad, fundamental training, underlying a specialized line of development which will early make him a valuable citizen.

This movement on the part of the general body of young men today to seek the professions which are placed by society upon a higher plane than those which demand often times more intelligence and greater industry in manipulation, is a laudable, increasing demand for skilled labor. This demand is particularly felt by men from foreign countries, particularly from England and Germany. The latter country has come into particular prominence because of its great industrial development and its increased prestige among the nations that naturally follows when commerce opens new markets for its products. It is even discovered that the secret of its success is due in a large part to the complete system of industrial, trade and technical schools and institutes.

With true American foresight a similar system of educational training is attempted, but as would naturally be expected with a variety of theories concerning the adaptability of the foreign system to our needs. While some would advocate the transplanting in toto of the German system and others advise certain modifications, it seems a wiser procedure to study our needs and demands and build a system to meet them.

It is precisely upon this line that this school was organized—to study the demands and needs of the textile industry and to organize courses of study to meet them as fast as they arose and as means permitted. After 11 years of study and development it is believed that a system of training, having for a foundation the fundamental principles of science, art and mathematics applicable to the industry, supplemented by a thorough course of study in the processes and upon the machines used in applying these principles for the service of mankind, results in supplying the business and manufacturing world with young men and young women capable of further development of being moulded, broadened and guided. These have received the "permanent set" have not become "hardened in the mould" and are not confined by barriers of custom and tradition. They are guided by scientific laws and principles and because of their acquaintance with the ground work they have little difficulty in grasping modified methods, systems or machines in grasping quickly the possibilities and limitations of each and are equally ready to recognize the value of improvements in all. Their vision is broad, deep and far reaching. Their decision is unbiased and is made only after careful analytical weighings. They climb up the "rungs" of problems solved, with such a commencement will anyone question the result?

Already the resultant is coming to view. Many have climbed the rungs and can look back upon the problems solved, can tell their followers the paths to choose. Their number is becoming yearly increased and their successes are attracting the attention of the business world because of their efficiency and ability. They are also causing the students of educational systems to look up and about them at a new and successful institution of higher technical industrial education. The system commends itself to all because of its flexibility and of its ability to grow. It is flexible because it is made to meet the needs of not only the young men who can devote three or more consecutive years to concentrated study, but it offers to the man of almost any age, opportunities for improvement during evening hours when not employed. By this method those who have not been able to acquire the technical side of their work may have the privilege of securing this, providing they have the ambition and strength of perseverance. They too, can reach the same goal even if the road is longer. The combination of day and evening classes leaves nothing to be demanded by the ambitious and determined youth.

The school has had its ear to the ground to learn of the needs of the industry can be best shown by following the development of the several courses since their establishment. The courses of cotton and wool manufacturing, of designing and of chemistry and dyeing were organized at the commencement of the school and are now at a high state of proficiency. During their development, especially with the manufacturing courses, the importance of engineering as it finds application in the operation and construction of plants became evident. With the growth of this department, came the demand of specialized training in engineering at an hour so much as applied to textile industries and it was soon recognized that a field, not before entered, was open and that young men having a grounding in the principles of engineering together with a knowledge of the processes and machines in use in the industry would be of service and value in the department which was responsible for the correct solution of all problems of engineering. Today the trustees and faculty of the Lowell Textile school grant the first diploma in the department of textile engineering. We trust that they may merit the same success as should attend their classmates.

BANK OFFICIALS

WERE INDICTED BY THE GRAND JURY.

NORWALK, O., June 5.—Congressman J. F. Lansing, formerly vice president and director of the defunct Ohio Trust company; James P. Gibbs, president of the closed bank; F. W. Christian, its secretary and treasurer; and William Perrier, a director, were yesterday indicted on various charges in connection with the failure of the bank last January.

Also indicted, it is alleged, Congressman Lansing and President Gibbs abstracted and misappropriated funds and credits of the bank to the extent of $38,924. It was stated that the failure of the bank, which seriously brought about the failure of two other banks, the failure of two great companies and a reorganization for the Lansing Printing company, of which Congressman Lansing is president, Congressman Lansing recently was nominated for a second term in congress.

76 MAGNOLIA STREET, DIRECTLY OPPOSITE THE LOWELL
GERAL HOSPITAL ON VARNUM AVENUE. THIS PROPERTY
SITUATED ON THE SOUTHERLY SIDE OF MAGNOLIA STREET
AND ABOUT 200 YARDS FROM VARNUM AVENUE.

I have placed this property with Mr. Keves, the auctioneer, to be sold on Saturday, June 6, at 4 p. m. The house consists of eight rooms, bath. On the first floor is a large parlor with fireplace, sitting room, kitchen, and one chamber; on the second floor are three chambers, a room and bath. The property is in very good condition, and my only reason for disposing of it is that it is too large for me. The lot contains about eight feet less concrete walk and plenty of room for a garden; there is a good sized henhouse on the lot. Now I think for someone who would like a place where he could get the good, country air, especially someone would like to keep a few hens and to have a little garden, it is a piece of property, and one that a poor man could afford to buy, especially as he has a large family. And I will absolutely sell it on time and hurry advertised for the best bid. Property can be seen any day from now till day of sale, by calling at my office.

Terms: $200 to be paid to the auctioneer, as soon as struck off.
